RIVER 37.9 FEET, TO FALL TONIGHT.

The government gauge at the foot of Market street registered 37 9-10 feet this afternoon.

At 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon it registered 38 feet, the highest mark reached by the flood.

Weather Forecaster Bowie predicts that the river will begin to fall tonight.

During the first 24 hours, he says, the fall will probably be slight.

Except for a strip of land running to the bluffs the north half of East St. Louis is today a damp island in a tawny lake of 32 square miles. With the exception of deep water in the cellars and low places this part of the city is dry.

The lake is 32 miles long from Alton to the bluffs below East St. Louis and averages 10 miles in width, making its extent 320 square miles.

With the danger of further inrush of water somewhat lessened the relief committees are taking up their work with energy, under the direction of Chairman Al Keechler, and offices in the Arcade building are open.

Patrols have been organized for the dry as well as the flooded parts of the city, and boatmen report, after thorough inspection of the flooded district, that all persons wishing to leave their homes have been taken away, and the others are provided with food.

The shortened line of levees has been carefully patrolled and all breaks reportd were soon stopped, except that at Hunter's switch, on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad embankment, from which water reached the northeast part of East St. Louis at noon.

The levee across the business portion of East St. Louis is holding, as is most of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad embankment, and the water fell at both points with the current turned toward the river channel.

Broadway, high on walled supports, has not collapsed, although water pours through, filling the low places as far over as Missouri avenue.

From Eighth to Tenth street, Broadway has been condemned, and soldiers guard the approach.

The soldiers enforced their orders with more strictness than the police intended, but the city officers accepted the situation and issued passes to those whom they knew to have business in the patroled parts of the city. These must be shown before the holders are allowed to proceed in any direction.

Other parts of the flooded district, which extends from East Carondelet to Alton, are caring for their present needs with aid from St. Louis and other neighboring cities.

Centerville, Pittsburg, French Village, Belleville, Collinsville, Caseyville, Griswold, Edwardsville and Alton have all their shares of the refugees.

Venice, the worst off of any of the flooded cities, has a good patrol, under the direction of Mayor Scott, held within call.

Madison has help for mthe Terminal company and labor union relief committees.

Granite City is another island in the big lake, and with the aid from the Niedringhaus committee and special boats is caring for her refugees.

Edwardsville Junction, Comstock, Oldenburg, Thomas, Mitchell, Stallings, Cahokia, Prairie du Pont and East Carondelet are being cared for from nearby points.

With the water remaining at the high stage, it is not possible to find bodies of those drowned, and conflicting stories remain alone to tell of deaths, with the exception of those in East St. Louis and Madison.

Today is the day for the great civic parade of the East St. Louis spring carnival, but no inquiries are heard as to the time for starting the parade.

The break in the B. & O. levee at Hunter's switch has not been repaired and water is entering the territory north of East St. Louis from its source and has raeched the northeast part of East St. Louis.

Chief of Police Purdy of East St. Louis announced this morning that he would, during the day, send a patrol over the entire flooded district and remove from the dangerous residences those who have remained, either to guard property or from a desire to stay in their homes.

Two companies of Illinois militia are on police duty in East St. Louis, relieving the police, who have served almost constantly since the danger from water commenced.

Early this morning 30 levee workers were called from their cots and hurried to the levee at the Relay station, as it was feared the levee was weakening under the pressure of the water and the constant washing of the waves caused by the wind.

The chilling wind added to the discomfort and danger to the health of the levee workers and those who remain in residences to guard property.

HOW TO SEND HELP TO EAST ST. LOUIS.

Money, either checks or cash, should be mailed or delivered in person to H. F. Parry, treasurer, or J. J. Reader, secretary of the East St. Louis relief committee, headquarters in T. P. Bates' office in Arcade building.

Contributions of food, blankets or clothing should be delivered by wagon at the west end of the East St. Louis viaduct. Eads bridge is not closed.

Before starting the wagon telephone N. V. Wright at relief committee headquarters. His telephone is Kinloch, B-2089.

The committee will then send wagons with passes to receive the supplies at the west end of the viaduct. The viaduct is closed, the approach being guarded by soldiers. Only wagons with passes from the authorities or the relief committee can cross it.

All money and supplies from whatever source should be sent to the relief committee according to these directions, as relief work is being systematized. The committee has complete supervision and all requests for help are presented to it and met by it. A storehouse for supplies has been opened in the Arcade building.

BELGRADE, Servia, June 11.—A military revolution broke out here last night.. The troops, who revolted under the leadership of Maj. Angikovics, surrounded the palace, assassinated King Alexander, Queen Draga, the latter's sister, the Queen's brother, Mikodeni, Premier Mavkovitch, Ministers Potrovitch and Tudorvica, Gen. Pavlovitch, the former minister of war, and some of the members of the royal guard.

Prince Karageorgevitch was proclaimed King.

A new government was formed and the following proclamation was issued:

TO THE SERVIAN PEOPLE

Last night the King and Queen were shot. In this grave and fateful movement friends of the fatherland have combined to form a new government. While the government makes this announcement to the people, it is convinced that the Servian people will gather round it and lend it their aid to maintain order and security throughout the land.

The government hereby makes known that from today, the constitution of April 6, 1901, comes in force. A meeting of the national representatives dissolved by the proclamation of March 4, is summoned to meet at Belgrade June 15.

RELIEF FROM COLD FOR EAST ST. LOUIS

Cold weather has put a new aspect on relief work for the flood sufferers in East St. Louis, and the urgent demand now is for blankets and clothing. Unless they are supplied before dark 3000 women and children will spend another night of suffering from the biting wind.

Wednesday night they slept on straw in tents, and although they huddled together they shivered until the sun came up to warm them. Few had blankets and the majority were clad only in thin summer clothing.

Second only to the need of clothing and blankets is that of money. There is abundant food for the day, but the sufferers must be cared for through weeks and perhaps months. Medicine must be bought. Scores will be sent away to relatives. Food must be purchased from day to day, in order that it may be fresh.

Relief work is being thoroughly organized under the direction of Al Keechler, president of the East St. Louis relief committee of fifteen.

The committee was appointed at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and before noon Thursday had collected $5337 from East St. Louis business men. The Livestock Exchange gave $2000 and the packers as much more.

The committee has opened headquarters in T. P. Bates, office in the Arcade building. J. J. Reader, the secretary, is in charge of the office. The telephone number is Kinloch B2269.

A storeroom for supplies has been opened in the Arcade building. Complete [illegible]cords of all donations and contributions [illegible]t, and of all calls for help received and filled.

President Keechler of the relief committee made the following statement to the Post-Dispatch Thursday morning:

The urgent need now is blankets, clothing and money. We have raised more than $5000 in a day, but our work has just begun. We must care for these people through weeks, perhaps for more than a month.

"They have food enough for today. Everyone who appeals to us and every one our committeemen can find in places of refuge or on the streets is being fed.

"But merely feeding these people is not taking care of them. They must be housed, clothed and attended by physicians when they are sick.

"Many want to go to surrounding towns to relatives. They have no money and we are sending them.

"The sudden cold weather has made the demand for clothing and blankets urgent. That must be met today. I have telegraphed the state authorities, and they are sending a supply, which will be here today, but that will not be enough.

"Citizens of East St. Louis are furnishing clothing and blankets as fast as they can. We are making every effort to prevent suffering.

"I believe we shall have 10,000 people to care for. I do not mean that we shall have to feed 10,000, but appeals for help in one form or another will be received from that many."

It is estimated that not more than 1000 persons spent Wednesday night in the upper stories of buildings in the flooded district. The greater part of those were men who preferred to stay and watch their property. The largest body of sufferers were in Century Hall, where 300 men, women and children spent part of the night. Many were taken ashore in skiffs before morning.

By Wednesday night an abundant supply of skiffs for rescue work had been secured and all parts of the flooded district were visited. The work continued all night.

The main refuge for flood victims is in Washington place, where a camp has been pitched. The Illinois state officials furnished 250 tents for the camp, and 150 of them were up and occupied Thursday morning. Thomas J. Dempsey, in charge of the camp, estimates that there was an average of 10 persons to the tent.

The suffering from cold during the night was most severe in Camp Washington. The tents could not keep out the wind. Women and children were clad in thin clothes, many in wrappers. Few had blankets and lay all night on straw.

There were several cases of sickness in the morning and doctors were at once sent to the ground.

Mr. Dempsey emphasized the need of blankets and warm clothes before another night begins.

Churches, the High School, the Elks club rooms, lodge and labor union halls also contain destitute families.

Those in Camp Washington number 100. There are 1000 more in the churches and halls. Private homes contain 2000. Many of these are with friends and have not suffered.

Belleville was caring for 500 Thursday morning. No account has been kept, but the exodus across Eads bridge has been constant since Wednesday morning

All the refugees in the city hall were removed to other places of refuge Thursday morning. Meals for levee workers and refugees are still being served in the auditorium. B. E. Wright, a Mobile & Ohio engineer, who acted as cook from Sunday morning until Thursday morning, says he made an average of 1720 gallons of coffee a day and served 20,000 meals during his long watch.

The flood refugees are being given coffee, bread, beans and meat. Gifts of these were abundant Wednesday. The relief committee does not expect, however, that gifts will be repeated every day. They point out that a supply of bread and other food cannot be received today for use a week hence. Their plan is to buy fresh fo[illegible] every day from the money contributed.

Belleville is taking an active part in caring for the flood sufferers. It has appointed committees and all club rooms, halls and churches have been thrown open. Eighteen hundred persons from East St. Louis have already gone there, and if necessary the business men of the town [illegible] they can care for 4000.

and his coming to the throne again restores it to power in Servia.

The new King was born in Belgrade in 1846, and was married in 1883 to Princess Zorka, daughter of Prince Nicholas of Montenegro. She died in 1890.

A story is current in Belgrade that King Alexander was recently considering effecting a separation from Queen Draga, and that the latter, becoming aware of this, planned preventive measures.

According to this story some high military officers last night entered the palace and tried to carry off the Queen by force, but encountered strong resistance on the part of the Queen's partisans, and, in the fierce struggle which followed, the King and Queen and their respective supporters were killed

All entry to the palace is prohibited, and a strong cordon of troops surrounds the royal residence.

THE END OF THE OBRENOVITCH DYNASTY.

The cabinet meeting of the Obrenovitch dynasty was closed last night's tragedy, the same day of the year on which Prince Michael was murdered 35 years ago in the Park of Topschider, near Belgrade.. Today a requiem mass was being sung in memory of Prince Michael, and now the last of his race, together with all connected with the dynasty, by his unfortunate marriage, lies in a bier in the palace.

The people of Belgrade have been flocking the streets since 3 o'clock this morning discussing the tragedy, but without condemnation. A strong detachment of troops is encamped about the palace of the newly-proclaimed King.

As the morning advanced the excitement in the streets grew steadily. In spite of the pouring rain, thousands of people gathered in the vicinity of the palace. Everywhere troops of all arms were posted and field guns were placed in position to quickly deal with any opposition to the government's will.

The soldiers discarded their cockades bearing the late King Alexander's cipher and substituted for it flowers, green twigs and leaves.

Bands of young men paraded the streets waving flags and shouting "Long live Kargeorgevitch."

Flags are flying from nearly every house in Belgrade, and there is absolutely no display whatever of crepe or other signs of mourning.

The royal standard has been lowered from over the palace. Reports from places outside Belgrade indicate that the country accepts the disappearance of the Obrenovitch dynasty without regret.

THE NEW KING IS A FRIEND OF RUSSIA

His Ascension to the Servian Throne Insures the Domination of the Muscovite Interests.

PARIS, June 11.—The new King of Servia, Prince Peter Karageorgevitch, living in Switzerland for some time, is well known in Paris, having frequently visited this city. He has a cousin, Prince Bodijar Karageorgevitch, living on the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, who took part in the French campaign in Tonquin and was decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor.

In an interview today Prince Bodijar said he considered that popular hatred of Queen Draga was largely responsible for the events at Belgrade. He added that his cousin, the new King, had long aspired to the Servian throne, and declared that the family was closely allied to Russia, thus assuring a pro-Russian policy in Servia.

Dr. Petrovitch of the Servian legation described the new King as a student of affairs of state, as being intensely animated by Servia's political destinies and as an admirer of Russia. The newly proclaimed King, Dr. Petrovitch added, is sending his son to St. Petersburg, where he will be educated at the expense of the imperial court of Russia.

The new King is the son-in-law of the ruler of Montenegro, who is also a friend of Russia.

Politicians had frequently sought to induce the new King to attempt to take the throne of Servia, but he always replied that he would not permit a dynastic contest to provoke a civil convulsion, and he preferred to await the result of the popular weariness resulting from the old regime.

A French official said the bloody deed of last night is the most pressing menace to the general peace of Europe that has happened in many years.

CLAIRVOYANT FORETOLD THE KING'S DEATH

LONDON, June 11.—The Servian minister to England says there were many causes leading to the revolution. A large section of the people were greatly dissatisfied with the tendency of King Alexander to eliminate the radical element from the government and by the constant rumors of his intention to appoint Queen Draga's brother, Lunjevitza, heir apparent. In addition to this the Queen was disliked by the people, who were also intensely outraged at the recent suspension of the constitution. The minister did not anticipate that the changes would result in internecine strife or in any real danger to the country.

The minister related a curious incident. He said that a month ago he was present at a clairvoyant's seance, at which a letter written by the murdered King was handed to the clairvoyant, who immediately became violently agitated, proclaimed that King Alexander would be assassinated very shortly and even depicted the scene which appears to have been enacted at the palace during the night.

The tragedy of the palace at Belgrade, marking the latest of the revolutions which have convulsed Servia from time to time during the past century, is not regarded in diplomatic circles in London as likely to lead to civil war. Stress is laid on the unpopularity of King Alexander since his marriage to Queen Draga. King Alexander's successor, Peter Karageorgevitch, is a son-in-law of the Prince of Montenegro, and is regarded as being most acceptable to the people.

The universal anxiety of the governments of Europe for peace is advanced as a reason why the Servian situation is not likely to lead to complications. Should, however, these unexpectedly arise official circles think an Austro-Hungarian army will immediately march into Servia and restore order. This eventually, however, is considered improbable.

REMARKABLE CAREER OF THE YOUNG KING

At Seventeen Years, He Boldly Seized the Reigns of Government and Drove the Regents From Him.

BELGRADE, June 11.—The career of Alexander of Servia was one of the most extraordinary in the history of kings.

The maturity and force of the young ruler, when he first ascended the throne, commanded the respect and aroused the astonishmnt of the whole world.

Born on Aug. 14, 1876,, he was not yet 27 years old. From the time he was able to understand he was a daily witness to the quarrelling and bickering of his parents, Milan and Natalie.

The cowardice and licentiousness of his father, the king; the pleasure-loving, intriguing nature of his mother, the queen, did not seem to have affected the boy, except to make him cynical and self-reliant.

Natalie left her husband because of his relations with the wife of his private secretary, Ristitch. She went to Russia. Thereupon King Milan secured a divorce from her on the ground of desertion, in October, 1888.

At the same time he made outrageous charges against her personal character. These things roused the bitterest feelings of his people, who were still smarting under the failure of the campaign against Bulgaria, which was caused by his personal cowardice.

The feeling against Milan became so strong that on March 6, 1889, he abdicated the throne in favor of his youthful son, appointing Ristitch, Gen. Protitch and Gen. Berlimarkovitch regents during the boy's minority.

Then Milan went to Paris, where, as the Count de Takovo, he devoted himself to a life of gambling and dissipation. In July, 1890, his gambling debts amounted to $600,000. He was accused of dealing baccarat unfairly in May, 1892, but he sent a challenge which caused the accuser to apologize.

Carefully Prepared in Statecraft.

Negotiations for the reconciliation of Milan and Natalie were begun by the Metropolitan Michael in 1892, and in January, 1893, it was officially announced that the reconciliation was accomplished. There was much rejoicing over the news.

The youthful King was carefully prepared in statecraft. He was King in name only, for the regents exercised all the power. He was wise and strong beyond his years. On April 13, 1893, he executed a coup d'etat which drew towards him the attention of the whole civilized world. At a banquet, where the Ministers were assembled, he declared that the situation in Servia demanded that he should violate one part of the Constitution relating to the age of the ruler, in order that the remainder might be preserved. He therefore proclaimed that he had reached his majority, and would henceforth rule as King. He dismissed his regents and ordered them to leave the country. He arrested the Ministers and then turned them out of office.

He formed a new ministry from the Radical party. He held the favor of the Liberals by declaring that the coup d'etat was directed against the regency and not against the Liberals.

It was suspected that Alexander's actions were promised by former King Milan, who was believed to be paving the way to his own restoration to the throne. Subsequent events tended to confirm the theory.

The former King suddenly returned to Belgrade in the latter part of January, whereupon the radical cabinet—the boy King had been experimenting with parties—resigned in haste.

Set Aside the Constitution.

Presently it began to be whispered in the capital that former Queen Natalie, who had been reconciled to her recreant husband as romantically as she was married at the age of 16, was coming back, too. Then, on the 18th of the succeeding March, the church formally annulled the decree of divorce.

Before many years had passed King Alexander issued a ukase restoring his parents to their former rights as members of the royal household. This decree was declared unconstitutional and void by the courts. Then the King brushed away the constitution, which stood in the way of this will.

The abrogated constitution vested the executive power in the king, assisted by a council of eight ministers, individually and collectively responsible to the nation.

Legislative power was conferred upon the king in conjunction with the national assembly, called the Skupshtina. The state council, or senate, consisted of 16 members, half named by the king, half by the assembly.

The council's province was to examine and elaborate projects of law and authorize extraordinary loans for municipalities.

The ordinary Skupshtina, meeting annually, was composed of deputies elected by the people indirectly and by ballot every three years, the voting being secret and by scrutin de liste, that is, by the multiple ballot system, by which all candidates for a department are put on the same list. By scrutin d'arrondisement, or the single ballot system, each arrondisement or district returns its own member. An extraordinary national assembly was provided for, to meet whenever necessary and to be composed of twice as many representatives as the ordinary Skupshtina.

Personal liberty, freedom of the press and of conscience, the right of assembly and certain privileges of local administration were guaranteed.

QUEEN WAS 17 YEARS OLDER THAN THE KING

Alexander's Marriage to Draga, a Plebeian, Who Had a Daughter as Old as the Royal Suitor, Was Never Forgiven by Subjects.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

BELGRADE, June 10.—Queen Draga was of plebian descent.

She was the beautiful daughter of the King's mother's lady-in-waiting.

The royal couple, mismated both as to rank and age—the King being much younger—were long "cold-shouldered" by all the monarchs of Europe, with the exceptions of the Czar of Russia and the Sultan of Turkey.

At that time of the marriage Prince Alexander was 24 years old, and it is difficult to guess the exact age from the likeness of his beloved. She may have been then all the way from 16 to 20 years of age. Conservative estimate puts her about 44 today.

This would make her just 17 years older than her husband.

Now, lovers of romance will praise all kings and princes for marrying below their station. In fact, all who ever did cast aside the chains of court tradition and took unto themselves brides from the humbler classes have gained immense popularity. But none will forgive a king for marrying a woman old enough to be his mother, and so it was in Alexander's case, his subjects holding it forever' against him.

Not Like Other Plebeian Matches.

All Roumania rejoiced when the betrothal was announced of the Crown Prince of Roumania to Mlle. Varesco, a lady of his mother's suite. This was also the case in Austria and Hungary when the Crown Princess Stephanie boldly defied the Kaiser and her father, King Leopold of Belgium, and gave her hand and heart to Count Lonyai. And when the Crown Prince of Austria was married to Sophie Chotek, another court lady, sensible persons expressed their approval. These three couples, however, were well matched in age, and the brides were all young and beautiful.

The young King, however, raised enemies all over Servia and at the European courts whom it was hard for him to propitiate.

In consequence of this marriage former King Milan resigned his commandership of the army and refused to resume it. Some time later he placed one of the best generals of the Servian army under arrest for insulting the new Queen by refusing to salute her. The old general preferred remaining in jail to recognizing this plebian matron, who was blessed with a 16-year-old daughter, as the wife of the young ruler of his country.

All the ladies of the diplomatic corps at Belgrade subjected the new Queen to a boycot of the most severe character.

The wives of the foreign envoys thus far, not merely refused to visit her and pay the customary tokens of respect to the consort of the sovereign to whose court their husbands were accerdited, but actually refused to bow to her in the street.

They could not understand how young Alexander could have been fascinated with the 40-year-old widow, despite the fact that she was still a charming woman.

She was the wife of a mining engineer, who killed himself on account of business troubles, though it was suspected that there were other reasons.

She was the mother of several children.

QUEEN TRIED TO PALM OFF AN HEIR ON KING

Draga's Attempted Deception Failed Through Arousing a Scandal That Angered Populace So She Feared to Carry it Farther.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

VIENNA, June 10.—King Alexander's reign was filled with scandals, but the greatest was Queen Draga's attempt to palm off an heir on her royal spouse.

The varied annals of Balkan courts contain nothing more startling than the story of Servia's vanished heir.

King Alexander's excuse for marrying her was as a man of honor compelled to legitimize their expected child, but the eminent Viennese surgeon, Nohtangel, says he informed Queen Draga 18 months before she could never know the joy of motherhood.

Nevertheless, after the marriage, every possible preparation was made, at the Queen's instance, for the alleged anticipated event. The Servians were enthusiastic over the likelihood of the dynasty being strengthened by the birth of an heir to the crown.

Belgrade diplomats all along warned their governments to expect a scandal when the denouement was reached as the innermost critics of the court believed the queen was either duping the king or conspiring with him to perpetrate an audacious fraud.

Alexander was so degenerate a creature that either explanation was acceptable. In pursuance of the plot two Russian and two French doctors were summoned to Belgrade five weeks before the date set to prepare for the event.

Dr. Stegireff of Moscow declared after a brief observation that there could be no confinement. Dr. Coulet, a Frenchman, and a friend of the queen when a lady in waiting to Queen Natalie, positively affirmed to the contrary.

The controversy provoked a quarrel between the surgeons. Stegireff reported to the czar that there was no heir in prospect nor had there ever been, that the queen had attempted to deceive him and those around her by elaborate system of artifice with the intention of foisting off a suppositious child upon the Servian people. He rejected the theory of a hysterical delusion advanced by his colleague.

King Terrified by Popular Anger.

King Alexander terrified by the ominous manifestations of popular anger at the sinister turn of events and warned by Russia of the consequences, suddenly became furiously indignant with the Queen and swore he would divorce her and indict all her entourage for high treason.

He alternated between paroxysms of sorrow and rage, acting generally like the weak treacherous villain he was.

The plot was carried so far that the Queen actually simulated illness usual on such occasions, but too late, as suspicion had been aroused.

As a result of the expose, the heir never materialized and the scandal was hushed. However, it alienated Draga and Alexander, who was never thorougly reconciled afterwards.

ASSASSINATIONS OF RULERS OF NATIONS

President Lincoln, shot April 15, 1865.

Alexander II of Russia, killed by a bomb, March 13, 1881.

President Garfield, shot, July 2, 1881.

President Carnot of France, stabbed, June 24, 1894.

Empress of Austria, stabbed, September 10, 1900.

King Humbert of Italy, shot, July 29, 1900.

William McKinley, President of the United States, mortally shot at public reception in Temple of Music at Pan-American Exposition, at Buffalo, Friday, Sept. 6, 1901, by Leon Czolgosz, anarchist; died Friday, Sept. 13.

Alexander and Queen Draga of Servvia, six cabinet ministers and members of the royal household killed June 11, 1903.

Might Need Them.

From the London Standard.

In a village near Oxford a country policeman in charge of the district presented his infant son for baptism.

"Name this child," said the learned Oxford divine.

"Septimus Octavius, sir," returned the policeman.

"But, er—"

"Yes; that is all right, sir. He's the seventh son, but the eighth child."

And so the christening was completed.

Duffy: What I say to my wife goes.

Meeker: Is it possible?

Duffy: Yes, as soon as I leave the house she goes over and repeats it to her mother.

REGISTER OF THE U. S. TREASURY USES PE-RU-NA FOR SUMMER CATARRH.

Summer Catarrh Afflicts Men and Women.

Hon. Judson W. Lyons.

HON. JUDSON W. LYONS, Register of the United States treasury, in a letter from Washington, D. C., says:

"I find Peruna to be an excellent remedy for the catarrhal affections of spring and summer, and those who suffer from depression from the heat of the summer will find no remedy the equal of Peruna."—Judson W. Lyons.

No man is better known in the financial world than Judson W. Lyons, formerly of Augusta, Ga. His name on every piece of money of recent date makes his signature one of the most familiar ones in the United States.

Two Interesting Letters From Thankful Women.

Miss Camilla Chartier, 5 West Lexington street, Baltimore, Md., writes:

"Late suppers gradually affected my digestion and made me a miserable dyspeptic, suffering intensely at times. I took several kinds of medicine which were prescribed by different physicians, but still continued to suffer. But the trial of one bottle of Peruna convinced me that it would rid me of this trouble, so I continued taking it for several weeks, and I was in excellent health, having gained 10 pounds."—Miss Camilla Chartier.

Summer Catarrh.

Mrs. Kate Bohn, 1119 Wiloughby avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"When I wrote you I was troubled with frequent headaches, dizzy, strange feeling in the head, sleeplessness, sinking feelings, faintness and numbness. Sometimes I had heartburn. My food would rise to my throat after every meal, and my bowels were very irregular.

"I wrote you for advice, and I now take pleasure in informing you that my improvement is very great indeed. I did not expect to improve so quickly after suffering for five long years. I am feeling very good and strong. I thank you so much for Peruna. I shall recommend it to all suffering with the effects of catarrh, and I consider it a household blessing. I shall never be without Peruna."

For those phases of catarrh peculiar to summer Peruna will be found efficacious.

Peruna cures catarrh in all phases and stages.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, president of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Though I sought the best medical advice, my sufferings seemed to increase, and recently, upon the advice of a friend, I used Paine's Celery Compound, and found it to be a wonder-working compound. I have used five bottles and can truthfully say I am a new woman. I owe my life and present good health to Paine's Celery Compound."

JETT AND WHITE FEEL HALTER DRAWN

Positive Proof That These Two Men Assassinated J. B. Marcum.

EWEN'S TESTIMONY MOST CONVINCING

The Victim's Sister Swears That Jett Told Her That "Hargis Money" Induced Him to Commit the Crime.

Special to the Post-Dispatch

JACKSON, Ky., June 11.—Curtis Jett and Thomas White, for the first time today, showed in their drawn features and the nervous shifting of feet and hands as they sat in the courtroom that they felt the drawing of the halter about their necks for the assassination of J. B. Marcum.

The prosecution has proven that White entered the courthouse while Marcum and Ewen were standing together, and that as he passed them he gave the signal for Jett to fire.

Ewen testified to seeing White just before and after Marcum was shot, and to seeing Jett just after Marcum was carried out of the courthouse. He saw Jett pistol in hand just as Marcum fell. Ewen's testimony corroborated the statements he had previously made regarding both prisoners, and he withstood the most rigid and lengthy cross-examination, though he was pale and nervous. His mental condition for the past two years was questioned, and he was asked whether he had not threatened to commit suicide. Ewen denied each allegation. Ewen said he had never told Sheriff Ed Callahan and County Judge Hargis what he had seen when Marcum was killed, because he feared to. He left them under the impression that he did not see Jett, and appeared to accept and indorse Hargis' story of the killing.

On re-direct examination he said that fear of his own safety prevented him from allowing Callahan and Hargis to know what he had seen. This statement from a deputy sheriff of the county, who has lived a prisoner in his home through fear and been under military guard when awake or asleep for several weeks, produced a visible impression in the courtroom.

Ewen told of making a search of the courtroom shortly after the assassination and finding no one. He had seen the assassin, but dared not say so.

Attorney J. C. Bache, the next witness, testified that he saw White come out of the courthouse as described by Ewen and saw Ewen look back when the first shot was fired.

Attorney John Patrick testified that five minutes before the assassination he saw Jett and White conversing in front of the courthouse. He saw Jett go into the courthouse several minutes before the shooting. A moment or so after Marcum fell he saw Jett leave the courthouse by a side door. Later he saw Jett and White walk to the bridge and there saw them talking with Mrs. Marcum and Mrs. Johnson, Marcum's sister. This testimony was corroborated by Kelly Kash, who occupied the same law office.

County Attorney W. H. Blanton testified that he was standing with Sam Faulbee when the shots were fired. He could not see the assassin.

William Combs, a wealthy farmer, said that Jett came out a side door of the courthouse soon after the shooting and walked towards the jail. Other witnesses had said that Jett had walked in the opposite direction.

Mrs. Johnson swears to the following statement:

"As I was returning home shortly after the killing I was overtaken by Jett. She spoke to him and said:

"'Jett, did you kill my brother?' He replied: 'I did, but Hargis' money made me do it.' He said he was going to leave the country. Then Tom White came up and I asked him if he had anything to do with the murder, and he said he was there but did not fire the shot."

During most of the testimony County Judge Hargis' daughter sat beside Jett and White.

A provost marshal is in control of Jackson. On order of Col. Williams, who is in command of the troops, provost guards are to patrol the streets day and night and make arrests for any infractions of the law, including drunkenness, firing pistols or disorderly conduct of any character. Capt. Longmire, who was appointed provost marshal, is also authorized to search any and all persons on the streets whom he has reason to suspect of carrying arms. Instead of sending offenders to a magistrate or County Judge Hargis, they will be taken before the grandjury and thus into the jurisdiction of the circuit court.

NEGRO PASTOR LEAVES FLOCK

Demonstrations Following Belleville Lynching Cause Rev. Charles Thomas to Depart.

Rev. Charles Thomas, pastor of the African Methodist Church in Belleville, has deserted his flock.

Since the lynching of the negro teacher, Wyatt, Saturday night, Thomas has received many warnings, and when he consulted an attorney about these letters, he was advised to find a new field of labor.

Rev. Mr. Thomas some time ago went to a barber shop patronized by white people and demanded a shine, and when it was refused brought suit for $200 damages against Henry Baumgarten, the proprietor, but lost the suit. The suit caused much feeling against negroes, according to the statement of Belleville people.

MAN'S HEART IS STITCHED.

Successful Operation Performed by a Surgeon in a London Hospital.

LONDON, June 11.—Surgeon Furnivall successfully stitched a wound in a man's heart this week in the London Hospital. John Long, a laborer, was stabbed through the heart in a saloon row, and immediately after he was brought in Dr. Furnivall decided to make an effort to get at the very center of the wound. Long had lost a deal of blood, but his life was saved in the first instance by the blood becoming congealed and clogging the wound.

The surgeon had to temporarily displace the breast cartilage, the ribs, and the lungs. At first he thought the heart itself would have to be removed, but on washing away the blood clots and raising it a little the puncture was found. With artery forceps he gripped the damaged part, and, first with catgut, then with silk, sewed up the small wound the knife had made.

Almost immediately there was an improvement of the pulse, and after 70 minutes Long was wheeled out of the operating theater to a bed, where he has continued to improve. A similar case was successfully treated two years ago.

GUARD YOUR HEALTH

WINE OF CARDUI FOR WOMEN

No woman can be too careful to see that the periodical function is kept in a healthy condition. The easiest and most certain way to do this is to take an occasional dose of Wine of Cardui to invigorate the organs which need reinforcement.

Every woman is subject to some conditions which bring on female weakness. Wine of Cardui gives women strength for all the duties of life. It gives them strong nerves, pure blood freedom from pains and sickness.

Make up your mind to have perfect health. Wine of Cardui not only cures, but it guards and keeps the health. The organs quickly respond to the healing vegetable ingredients of which Wine of Cardui is composed. A healthy woman does well to take this medicine on approaching her periodical sickness. Occasional doses of Wine of Cardui save expensive services of a doctor.

Wine of Cardui cures the worst cases of prolonged female troubles, and has cured thousands of them quickly and completely in the privacy of the home. But why wait until you are sick to guard your health? It is better to keep in health than to fight chronic disease. Take a little thought and keep your health good without undergoing pain and suffering.

Chicora, Miss., May 1, 1902.

Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught are a sure cure for all female diseases. I recommend your medicines to all my friends everywhere I go. Five months ago I could not walk across the house without great pain, but I am well again. I have only taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, but feel better than I have felt in two years.

Mrs. N. T. GLIDEWELL.

Sand Lake, Mich., June 10th, 1902.

I must write and thank you for the good your Wine of Cardui has done me. Twenty-one years ago Wine of Cardui saved my mother's life, in Allen County, Indiana, and thinking of that three weeks ago I purchased a bottle. It is the medicine a woman needs.

BANKER IS GONE; $280,000 MISSING

President, in Farewell Notes, Takes All Blame for Big Shortage.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 11.—The Bessemer Savings Bank has announced that President T. J. Cornwall has disappeared and that a shortage of $280,000 has been discovered.

Three notes, said to have been received from the missing president, are given out:

In one to the public, he says he lost the money trying to make back $42,000 he lost in a legitimate business transaction. He further exonerates all the officers of the bank and takes the whole blame on himself.

In a letter to his wife, which she was instructed to open this morning, he stated that he would not commit suicide but would arrange for her to be informed if he died. In a third letter, addressed to Cashier Cockrill, he states that he had nothing left for him to do but "wander on the face of the earth or become a convict in the state mines."

The shortage will not affect the Birmingham banks.

It is understood that a great part of the money was deposits of merchants and miners and employes of the rolling mills, furnaces and other industrial plants of Bessemer.

The city of Bessemer will lose $17,000. The bank will probably not be able to meet a payment of more than a very small percentage on its deposits. The bank was organized in 1891 with a capital of $100,000 and had deposits of about $260,000.

After the Tale That Was Told.

From the New York Sun.

The Ancient Mariner had recounted his tale of woe and the wedding guest departed.

Hastening to the nearest tavern he drank a toast to Coleridge.

WONDERFUL METAL REACHES NEW YORK

Specimen of Polonium Received There Direct From Paris Discoverer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 11.—A specimen of the precious metal, polonium, whose wonderful properties are the marvel of the scientific world, is owned in this city. It belongs to William J. Hammer, a mechanical engineer, of 26 Cortland street, who secured it direct from the laboratory of the discoverer of the metal—Mme. Curie and her husband in Paris.

The cabled announcement on Monday of the demonstration of the properties created a stir among scientists.

The hidden and apparently unlimited possibilities of the element have stimulated speculaton about it, and made the public all the more eager to hear about it. It is regarded as among the possibilities that it may enable the blind to see and that its rays may cure fevers and consumption.

The specimen owned by Mr. Hammer is almost infinitesimal in size, but is regarded as of great value. How much it is worth he will not say. He has two specimens, the pure polonium and the sub-nitrate of polonium. In appearance the former is like nickel; the latter is a white powder.

Mr. Hammer spent some time last year in the laboratory of Prof. Curie experimenting. Mme. Curie is the discoverer of polonium, as she is of radium.

The discovery of polonium was made by her in 1898 in the course of experiments made to determine the ratio activity of uranium. The marvelous properties of the metal have only recently been made known. Tests have shown it to be an element.

Mr. Hammond says polonium, though a wonderful metal, is neither as powerful nor as costly as radium. It loses its power much more quickly, he says. Mr. Hammer is the owner of a small bit of radium also. He says radium is much the more useful of the two metals. Though constantly radiating infinitesimal particles, it exists for years without exhausting itself. Its light and heat are unfailing.

The uses of the three new metals, radium, polonium and actinium, are now the problem of scientists. Mr. Hammer believes that a substance may be found susceptible to the emanations of radium and that in this wise cheap light and heat may be supplied.

KAISER OWNS MUCH LAND.

BERLIN, June 11.—Emperor William owns 83 estates besides the 53 castles mentioned in a recent dispatch. These estates foot up 300,000 acres, and the income from them is about $160,000. But several of the great landed proprietors, the Prince of Pless and the Duke of Ratibor among them, have far more extensive landed possessions than their imperial master.

However, the emperor's property is big enough to require an ever increasing army of agents to look after it, and is constantly increasing. It is not an uncommon thing for a German prince or wealthy owner of landed estates to leave a house or land to the emperor. This was the case with the castle and the estate of Cadinen, where the empress spends her happiest days.

Enormous sums go to the support of the 53 castles. The emperor has only visited 30 of the 53, yet he is building another castle on a huge scale in the town of Posen to cost $500,000, and to be a Prussian royal residence among the Poles.

LOVE AT NINETY IS NOT INSANITY

Count Refuses to Annul Nonogenarian's Will Giving All to Young Wife.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Love at 90 is not insanity in law, whatever it may be in poetry, according to Judge Marean of the supreme court, who has dismissed the suit of Mortimer S. Brown for the annulment of the will of his father.

After hearing all the testimony the judge said there was nothing the matter with the wealthy banker, who died a few weeks after his marriage, except that he wanted to get married, "and it would be a dangerous doctrine to decide that that was insanity."

The old man's children attempted to have his will set aside because he left all to the woman of 30, whom, according to an oddly-written diary introduced as evidence, he described as "an angel, sent from God."

The diary detailed many repeated attempts of the nonogenarian to find a wife and told of repeated failures until the "Angel" appeared.

The children of his dead wife produced the book as evidence and its reading caused much amusement in court.

HIS KNIFE HAD 366 BLADES

Burr Davis, Who Made Remarkable Piece of Pocket Cutlery For Exhibition, Is Dead.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Burr Davis, senior member of Burr Davis & Sons, liverymen and undertakers of Mount Vernon, died at his home on Chester hill, Mount Vernon, yesterday, from heart disease. He was 75 years old.

In early life he was a cutler and made the pocket knife having 366 blades which was exhibited at the Crystal palace in this city in 185[illegible] by his employers, the Waterbury Manufacturing company of Waterbury, Conn.

JOHN J. RYAN IS PLACED ON TRIAL

Former "Get-Rich-Quick" Promoter and His Manager Face a Jury.

John J. ("Baldy") Ryan and O. W. Deppler were placed on trial in Judge Neill Ryan's courtroom Thursday morning on the specific charge of embezzlement by bailee.

They are charged in indictments returned by the February grandjury with obtaining money under false pretenses from C. J. Eddy, Henry Hall, Henry Clay, S. S. Duckworth, Dr. J. M. Long, T. S. McGuire, C. W. Rossier and Mrs. William Sievers.

The indictment grew out of the grandjury investigation following the collapse of the "get-rich-quick" concerns. Ryan operated a "turf investment" concern that numbered its subscribers by the thousands, some of them in every part of the country. Deppler was manager for Ryan.

Chester H. Krum, Thomas J. Rowe, Charles T. Noland of St. Louis, and T. C. Campbell of Cincinnati are defending Ryan. They declare the case will never get to the jury.

C. Orrick Bishop and George Fickeissen appear for the state, Circuit Attorney Folk being engaged in grandjury work.

SOCIETY

On Wednesday morning, under the care of Mr. Lewis Tune, 80 ladies went by trolley to Glen Echo for luncheon.

The guests, for the most part, were the wives and sisters of the credit men now in convention at the Planters' hotel. After a delightful luncheon served in the beautiful Dutch dining room of the Glen Echo clubhouse, the ladies boarded their private cars and were whirled over to the World's Fair grounds, where they were met by the gentlemen, and all were taken over the route that will later be the intermural railroad in box cars.

Mr. Tune was ably assisted at the club in entertaining the out-of-town guests by a reception committee of St. Louis ladies, whose chairman was Mr. Hanford Crawford. In the receiving party were Mrs. Hanford Crawford, Mrs. J. A. Lewis, Mrs. Isaiah Forbes, Mrs. Selby Barnes, Mrs. C. B. Eames, Miss Grace Langenberg, Miss Julia Barclay, Mrs. Richard Hanlon, Mrs. J. Danderine

GREW THIS HAIR.

Testimonial No. 570.

MRS. ANNIE E. SHEEHAN,
Weir City, Kansas.

You must remember that falling hair and dandruff are signs of decay, or a diseased condition of the scalp, and you must not delay treatment. To do so simply means more loss of hair, and a greater impoverished scalp, and finally no hair. The wise thing to do is to correct it in the start. Danderine works wonders in all such cases. It will quickly regenerate the enfeebled tissues, and make your hair grow more beautiful than it ever was. NOW at all druggists, three sizes.

25c., 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

Piano Talk Number Twelve

Forced to Move Pianos from Warehouse and Pianos Rented on Account of High Water,

Kieselhorst Company Inaugurates Big Clearance Sale at Remarkable Bargain Prices

The high stage of water has caused us and most every merchant no little annoyance and inconvenience.

We are practically forced to sell at least fifty pianos in the next ten days. We will do so regardless of cost or former prices.

All new pianos from our warehouse and a great many pianos out on rent and lease have been removed to our store for fear of damage from dampness. We took time by the forelock and removed these pianos before they were injured. Now our store is overcrowded, and it is necessary for us to cut prices to the lowest point in order to clear them out and relieve the overcrowded condition.

Here are thoroughly good $250, $300 and $325 pianos marked to sell at $135, $165 and $195. Terms, $10 or $15 down, $5 to $7 per month.

Splendid new Cabinet Grand Pianos, slightly marred in handling and crowding in our store, former prices $350, $375 and $400, sale prices $198, $225 and $265. Terms, $15 to $25 down, $8 to $10 per month.

Used pianos from rent customers, to clear out, at $85, $100, $125 and $160. Terms to suit you.

In order to relieve the present overcrowded condition of our warerooms, we offer a number of good Square Pianos at almost your own price and terms.

Investigate this piano opportunity at once—you'll find things as advertised.

JUSTICE PURSUES SLAYER OF WIFE

World's Fair Carpenter Arrested Eight Years After Escape.

John E. Mundy, who has been living in St. Louis for several years at 3016A Cass avenue under the name of Dell Lewis, has confessed to Chief of Detectives Desmond that he killed his former wife in Toledo, O., in January, 1893, and has agreed to return there without requisition papers. Mundy was arrested at the Word's Fair grounds Tuesday, after being pointed out to Sergt. Henry Meyer by persons who knew him in Toledo.

Mundy says his wife was the aggressor in a fight after his release from jail, where she had caused him to be confined.

He says that he would never have been charged with murder had it not been for a small dog about the house. He had explained the absence of his wife and children, but the dog remained about the house and attracted so much attention that the police investigated and found the body.

Mundy was arrested in St. Louis and returned to Toledo, but escaped from jail there with several other prisoners Aug. 17, 1895.

After his escape he found work in Illinois He came to St. Louis several years ago and was working at the World's Fair grounds as a carpenter when arrested.

Picnic of Pupils.

Last Wednesday the pupils of the Mount Pleasant School assembled at their building and marched behind Hashagen's World's Fair Brass Band to the "Coney Island of the West" Park, at Grand and Meramec, where a program of picnic games and sports was carried out and the vaudeville theater furnished entertainment.

Three Men Save a Stranded Cat.

While out sightseeing at the foot of St. Louis avenue Mr. Ed Meyer, Mr. Julius Buchanan and Mr. George Schornhorst, North St. Louis feed dealers, were startled by the cries of a cat on a log in the Mississippi river, and at the risk of their lives saved this bit of animal life from a watery grave. The cat appealed to Mr. Schornhorst personally and he is now a member of Mr. Schornhorst's cat family.

THERE WAS A MAN IN OUR TOWN
AS WISE AS HE COULD BE
HE JUMPED INTO A GROCERY STORE
AND BOUGHT SOME EGG-O-SEE.

AND WHEN HE FOUND HOW GOOD IT WAS
WITH ALL HIS MIGHT AND MAIN
HE JUMPED INTO ANOTHER STORE
AND BOUGHT SOME MORE AGAIN.

This sketch was made by Max R. Wainright, age 10, Arlington School, St. Louis. We give a cash prize of $5.00 for any drawing of this character which we accept and use. All school children can compete. Full instructions will be found on inside of each package of Egg-O-See, telling what to do to get the prize and how to make the drawings. These prize drawings will appear in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch on Thursday and Sunday.

Railroads Promise Prompt Transportation of Delegates.

The executive committee of the Saengerfest was officially informed Thursday by the managers of eastern railroad lines that the present derangement of passenger traffic will not interfere with the transportation of delegates and visitors to the three days' festival of song.

An authoritative denial is made of the report of an intended postponement of the Saengerfest.

INTERNATIONAL REVOLVER MATCH

Test of Accuracy Will Be Made Over Cable by French and American Clubs.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Conditions for an international revolver match by cable have been agreed upon by the United States Revolver Association and the National Shooting Societies of France, and as a result the contest will be held June 27, 29 or 30. The question of date is the only matter remaining unsettled. The French experts desired that the limit of the barrel be 12¼ inches and the weight of arm 2⅝ pounds. This was acceptable to the Americans, most of whom, however, will use the regulation 6-inch barrel and the others barrels varying up to 8 inches.

There will be 15 men and three substitutes on each team. Each of the 15 men will use 10 standard American targets of six shots each at a distance of 50 yards. The arm will be a six-shot revolver having a 2½-pound trigger pull. The contestants will have the entire day in which to finish.

COCKED-HAT ENDS SEASON FRIDAY

Tie Match Between Juniors and Crescents to Be Rolled Off on Royal Alleys.

Cocked-hat "rooters" are hoping the weather will continue cool until after next Friday evening.

On that occasion the cocked-hat match which has attracted the greatest interest since the Crescent and Acme teams had such a desperate finish for the Post-Dispatch high-team average trophy will be bowled.

The Junior and Central league teams on the coming occasion will roll off their tie for first place in the National Cocked-Hat Association's tournament.

The Royal alleys, on account of their capacity, have been chosen for the roll-off.

A meeting of the Junior and Central teams, held last night, decided on the alleys and the date. Five games will be played, according to the conditions agreed upon, the result to depend on games and not total pins.

From the uniformly good work of both fives the outcome of the match is a matter of doubt, though the Centrals have the older heads.

CLAUDE TO START IN LOCAL DERBY

Daly's Two-Time Derby Winner Has Been Shipped to St. Louis.

DETROIT, Mich., June 11.—Claude will start in the St. Louis Derby, if the floods do not prevent his shipment to St. Louis. Pop Daly's candidate has been in training her since the opening of Grosse Pointe and is in fine trim.

If he starts at St. Louis he will undoubtedly be first or second choice. He has won two derbies already and a third would fit nicely in his cap.

Claude was badly beaten in the International Derby here Monday. He is, however, weight packer and loves a long distance. If the track should be muddy Claude will be first choice for the St. Louis event.

Au Revoir's defeat yesterday at Harlem by Early gives Claude's chances a boost. Au Revoir was picked as the sure first choice for the St. Louis event, in case he started. The mile and one-sixteenth yesterday behind the American Derby entry Early has led to the belief that Bennett's colt cannot go the Derby route.

Line of Least Resistance.

Everybody naturally takes the line of least resistance—that is the direction in which he meets with the least opposition. We all want to "take things easy," and the articles that make things easier for us are the ones that meet the demand. The newspaper contributes to the world's ease by making known the easy things in every line. Take for example the latest "easy novelty," the "easy medicine," Cascarets, Candy Cathartic, easy to buy, easy to eat, easy to give children, easy to carry and easy in their action. Medicine-giving and taking used to be a hardship, but the ease-loving world progresses.

Benefit for Flood Sufferers.

Next week a flood benefit will be given at Koerner's Garden. The Lawrence Hanley Company will present "Hamlet." Manager H. Edward Rice is planning a number of surprises in connection with the presentation, so that it will be a notable event in summer theatricals. The cast will include Angeline Fullis, Rachel Acton, Harry Burkhardt, Hal de Forest, Joseph Ransome and others. Special scenery will be put on; the seating capacity of the garden will be enlarged, and the boxes will probably be disposed of at auction.

Tent for Flood Refugees.

F. C. Sanguinet has accommodations for 25 flood refugees in a tent at Delmar and De Balliviere avenues. Applicants to that number who call on him at 3860 Easton avenue will be provided for.

The Coffee Question—

Why the Coffee Critics Stick to Schotten's 1904 Coffee.

How to Save from 5 to 15 Cents on a Pound and Get the Same Good Flavor.

When you get attached to a coffee of certain flavor and strength you always want your coffee the same.

It's usually hard to have it the same.

It isn't always the fault of the coffee—sometimes the cook or coffee-pot is to blame.

But many times the fault lies with the coffee. Most coffee dealers don't give enough attention to keeping the flavors uniform. Sometimes after a certain brand has been introduced the quality changes.

Not so with Schotten's 1904 coffee—the same yesterday, today, and always.

That's why coffee critics stick to Schotten's 1904.

When properly prepared it is the equal in strength and flavor of any coffee packed in cans for which you pay 30 to 40 cents.

It comes in one-pound cartons and sells for 25 cents. Ask your grocer for it. It's guaranteed.

EXPLODED STOVE A DEADLY BURDEN

Woman Is Fatally Burned in Trying to Stop Conflagration.

In an effort to throw an exploded gasoline stove out of a window, Mrs. Anna Dowdy, a widow, was burned almost to death at 6 o'clock Thursday morning in the rooming house at 1122 Locust street. She is at the City oHspital in a critical condition.

Mrs. Dowdy, who came to St. Louis last Friday from Davenport, Io., was preparing breakfast for herself and a 14-year-old daughter, and did not know that the gasoline tank on top of the stove was overflowing. She lighted the jet and an explosion followed.

Picking up the stove, Mrs. Dowdy was in the act of hurling it through a window when her clothing became ignited, and in a moment she was enveloped in flames. Other occupants of the house rushed to her assistance, and tried to extinguish the flames by throwing buckets of water upon the burning woman.

Before the flames could be quenched Mrs. Dowdy was so badly burned that her recovery seemed out of the question.

HECKWOLF, IN SPRINTS, WILL BE HARD TO BEAT

Local Athlete Holds 100 and 220-Yard Dashes Safe in Saturday's Meet, if Not Handicapped Out of Them.

Entries and handicaps for the big athletic meeting, the third annual open event held under the auspices of the St. Louis Amateur Athletic Association, have been practically made up by the handicapping committee and will be announced Friday.

The program includes the following events:

One-hundred-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, running broad jump, pole vault, shot put, high jump, 120 and 220-yard hurdles and mile run.

Interest centers in the 100-yard dash, in which many of the state stars will come together. Fourteen entries are being handicapped by the committee, and Heckwolf, the local sprinter, will doubtless be the only scratch man.

Lehman of Washington University, Brey of the same team, Felming of Triple A, Glaser of high school Murry of the Carlysle team and Heuman, the local unattached sprinter, look the best of the next bunch. With the exception of Heckwolf, who appears to stand out from the others, the contenders are evenly balanced and a pretty contest is expected.

Turner of C. B. C., on account of brilliant showing in the 220-yard dash, intercollegiate meeting, is thought to be on a par with Heckwolf, who will again likely be scratch man. Turner will hardly class with Heckwolf when it comes to the try out, in the opinion of those who have seen both men work.

"Prep" School Boys Hold Hurdle Events.

The hurdle events are scantily entered, seven taking a chance in the high hurdle and 10 in the low. The American School of Osteopathy was unable to send its cracks to the meeting, and Crowley's absence from the entry list in these events will be missed. St. Clair Shaw was expected to enter in the hurdles but also missed out.

The race as it stands would be between preparatory school boys on even terms. Morcom, Laurence and Dan Dillon look the best of the lot and the handicapper will find trouble in separating them.

The other events are well filled. Charley Reber was unable to get into harness at short notice and will not take part in the broad jump.

The mile run will bring out Schultz of Missouri University, who ran third at the conference meeting at Chicago.

Schultz should have little difficulty winning from scratch if those entered with him are given under 100 yards handicap. Hand Wulf, the St. Louis athlete, is another Missouri University lad who is entered. He will probably vault from scratch in the pole jump with O'Reilly.

The officials of the meeting will be named in full Friday.

THERE ARE MANY DOGS, BUT WHERE ARE THE CATS?

Many animals have lost their homes by reason of the flood, but few have been drowned. Relief parties discover them in most unlooked-for places. Many remain on the roofs of their owner's dwellings and refuse to leave.

Near the Franklin school there is a goat in the second story of a deserted iron foundry.

In front of the Franklin school on a small raft is a coop full of fine chickens. One of the refugees upset this coop in his eagerness to save himself, and much excitement was on until the chickens were rescued.

Dogs are picked up everywhere, but the scarcity of cats is a subject of comment.

CONGRESSMAN RODENBERG LEADS IN RELIEF WORK

Congressman William A. Rodenberg is director-general of the rescue work in East St. Louis. No red tape interferes with Mr. Rodenberg's business.

He stands at Tenth and Broadway in his shirt sleeves, with pencil and paper in hand, keeping a record of the boats he sends out on relief work and of the men on them.

He is always active, always pleasant.

All his assistants he addresses familiarly, most of them by their first names. Some of the older men in return call him "Rody."

It is "Here, Jim, you take this boat," or "Get into No. 4 there, Tom," with the congressman.

His enthusiasm has spread to the other rescuers, and not a minute is lost in getting the relief boats out to the submerged districts, in again and, like Finnigin, off again.

The congressman has been working night and day since the flood began to threaten East St. Louis.

The lawn festival and bazaar given by the ladies of St. Mary's Guild of the Church of the Advent, which was postponed from last Thursday evening, will be held this, Thursday, evening, at the residence of Mrs. Edward Read, 5.. Cates avenue.

Drunkenness IS A DISEASE!

"Will-Power" Will Not Cure It.

Drink is the greatest curse of mankind. Many a young man of greatest promise has found the dishonored grave of a drunkard instead of an honorable place in society.

Physicians have long recognized that continued indulgence in alcoholic stimulants causes the stomach and digestive organs to become diseased. In the vast majority of cases, therefore, habitual drunkenness is a physical disease, and no amount of mental resolve or "faith cure" will cure it.

"ORRINE" WILL POSITIVELY AND PERMANENTLY CURE THE DRINK HABIT. We guarantee this and will refund the money should the remedy fail. But it never does fail.

"ORRINE" is tasteless, odorless and colorless, and can be given without the patient's knowledge in tea, coffee, water or milk. It tones up the diseased stomach and gives a hearty appetite and good digestion.

Members of the W. C. T. U., clergymen, physicians and public men all over the land endorse this wonderful remedy.

Rev. Thos. C. Easton, D.D., 627 E. Capitol St., Washington, D. C., writes: "I can safely affirm, from cases under my personal observation, that ORRINE is a marvelous and permanent remedy for chronic inebriates."

$1 per box, 6 boxes for $5. Securely sealed, postpaid. Sealed booklet mailed free on request. Address ORRINE CO., Pope Building, Washington, D. C., or call on

VERY LITTLE COAL OR MILK NOW IN ST. LOUIS

The Milk Situation Amounts to a Famine; Some Plants May Suffer From Coal Shortage, but Railroad Traffic Conditions Are Improving Slightly.

A milk famine is threatened in St. Louis as a result of the flood.

It practically exists today, though some more fortunate St. Louisans are still receiving their daily share.

Until it becomes possible to bring milk across the river from Illinois, however, the city must depend on the little milk that is brought in from Missouri.

Dealers in milk say that probably 85 per cent of the St. Louis milk supply comes from Illinois.

Not a drop of milk has been brought across the river for three days. Even the usual amount from Missouri has not been received.

An official of the Grafeman Dairy Co. stated to the Post-Dispatch Thursday morning that St. Louis consumed about 50,000 gallons of milk a day and that only about 800 gallons are being received daily.

Scarcity of Milk Amounts to a Famine.

In their distress the milkmen have turned to the condensed milk dealers for relief. So strong has been the demand for the canned variety that some of the wholesale grocers have already exhausted their supply.

A condensed milk famine is threatened, too.

Dealers say, too, that the milk inspector has notified them not to deliver condensed milk, instead of the customary article.

In consequence milk wagons are in enforced retirement today.

H. Grafeman, president of the Grafeman Dairy Co., through his secretary, said to the Post-Dispatch Thursday:

"We retired our 55 wagons from service this morning.

"We still get and deliver a little milk, but it is very little.

"There has been practically no milk in St. Louis for three days. I presume the other companies are in the same fix we are."

Some of the down-town restaurants are using condensed milk, unable to obtain the fresh article.

The larger dairy companies are still supplying some of their customers, however.

Coal May Run Out in Two More Days.

Every day that the high water blocks traffic between East St. Louis and the Missouri side of the river, the coal situation in St. Louis becomes more serious.

Fortunately, little coal is needed by private families or by poor persons, and the situation does not concern them directly. Should the coal supply become so shot, however, that the streetcar power houses, the electric plants or the waterworks should be compelled to shut down, the effect would be very serious upon citizens generally.

However, it is announced that the water works has three months' supply of coal. [illegible]dward Devoy of Devoy & Feuerborn, [illegible]h has the contract for supplying the [illegible]t company, states that he under[illegible] tha[illegible] railway corpora[illegible] about two weeks' supply on hand. Elsewhere, it is reported, that the company has only about one week's supply.

The scarcity of coal has raised the price from $3 to $6 per ton for the grade of soft coal ordinarily delivered to family trade.

A few downtown office buildings are reported to be offering high prices for coal.

Coal Supply Is Very Short.

"St. Louis consumes about 20,000 tons, or, say 550 cars of coal a day, at this time of the year," said J. D. Barth, president of the Barth-Rose Coal Co. "I do not see how the city can get along for more than a few days longer with the present supply.

"No coal has come over the river by train since about last Friday and none has been brought over in wagons since Monday.

"Many steam plants keep only a few days' supply on hand and I do not see how they are going to keep going under present conditions.

"There is no actual coal famine at present, however. Dealers who supply family trade and some that supply steam plants have some coal in stock yet, and they are not asking exorbitant prices.

"I see it stated that the situation may be relieved by bringing in coal from the West. However, I imagine that the roads running from the West would need themselves about all the coal they could bring in."

There is no immediate prospect of an improvement in the freight situation.

"Freight shipments have been absolutely stopped on all lines crossing the river from St. Louis and I do not expect business to be resumed for a week."

That was the statement made to the Post-Dispatch Thursday morning by John J. Baulch, traffic manager of the Wiggins Ferry and the Interstate Car Transfer companies.

"If the water falls very rapidly, more rapidly than I expect, freight may begin moving again sooner—but I doubt if it will.

"It is impossible to tell now just when the situation will clear up.

"So many tracks are submerged that no one can tell exactly what's under the water. However, nearly all the cars filled with freight on the East Side were hauled out of the way before the flood struck the tracks."

The general situation has improved in regard to passenger service, though some of the lines are still out of business entirely, as far as St. Louis is concerned.

They are the C., P. & St. L. (Bluff line), the Valley line, which runs along the river front from East St. Louis to Chester, Ill., the Mobile & Ohio, which also runs along the river front, and the St. Louis, Kansas City & Colorado, which skirts the Missouri river in St. Louis and Franklin Counties.

The Vandalia is not coming into St. Louis at all for the present. Its trains run only as far west as Effingham, Ill.

Roundabout Routes for Passenger Trains.

The Burlington train for the north, which has not been running for several days, resumed operation at 2:15 Thursday afternoon over a new route. Instead of using its own tracks along the north river front it will hereafter take the Wabash track to St. Peter's, in St. Charles County, thence go via its old track to Old Monroe, on the main line.

The Wabash train for Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo, instead of crossing the river, will use the tracks of the western division to Moberly, thence taking the M., K. & T. tracks to Hannibal and rejoining its own line in Upper Illinois.

The M., K. & T., with its tracks washed out along the St. Charles County bank, is now using the Missouri Pacific to Sedalia, where it switches to its own tracks to the southwest.

The Wabash train for Kansas City uses the M., K. & T. tracks from Moberly west, and also uses the Missouri Pacific tracks to get into Kansas City, its own tracks having been wrecked by the flood.

The Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain are running without interference.

The Big Four, C. & A. and Burlington trains are now leaving from Alton, instead of St. Louis, with steamboat connections between St. Louis and Alton.

The Wabash and Clover Leaf trains are leaving from Edwardsville, which may be reached by electric car from East St. Louis.

The Illinois Central train for the south starts from Belleville, which can be reached by electric car.

The Illinois Central (for Chicago), the Southern and the B. & O. trains start from East St. Louis, the starting points being accessible to street cars.

The L. & N. trains start from St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, each train leaving 50 minutes later than its time scheduled for leaving Union Station.

Price of Meat May Be Advanced.

The big packing companies are receiving only one-third of the amount of meat they need to supply the demand in St. Louis at present.

The local packing houses are cut off from Chicago and their Kansas City depots have too much trouble of their own to render any local assistance.

Some meat is being brought to St. Louis from Omaha.

"If the present situation continues there will be a rise in prices, undoubtedly," said a representative of Nelson Morris & Co., Thursday, "but I do not think it will be within the next few days.

"Prices are dependent on the state of the cattle market and the market is now up, anyhow. Beef is selling retail from 12½ cents to 20 cents a pound."

Potatoes are also advancing in price, having risen from 75 cents to $1.25 per bushel within the last week.

Wholesale grocers report a scarcity of sugar and corn and say the prices on these commodities will advance at once, unless the situation is relieved.

PART TWO. ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH 20 PAGES.

PAGES 11—20. ST. LOUIS, THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 11, 1903. PAGES 11—20

48 PERSONS RESCUED BY THE POST-DISPATCH

With a Government Lighthouse Tender Neglected Portions of the Flooded District Were Explored, Food Distributed and Sufferers Brought to St. Louis.

Through the assistance of ex-Congressman F. D. Niedringhaus the use of a stanch little steamboat used as a lighthouse tender by the United States government, was given to the Post-Dispatch, and an expedition started from the foot of Valentine street Wednesday afternoon to explore the more inaccessible parts of the overflowed district in the tri-city region.

The difficulties prohibiting such exploration in the past had been that the deep-draft tugs or steamers prevented close approach to the shallow district, and with skiffs the very swift in-shore currents were only to be stemmed by the most expert oarsmen.

The lighthouse tender draws less than three feet, enabling her to go far in among the houses and trees, and for extending her effective work a crew of five members of the old Modoc Rowing Club was employed by the Post-Dispatch through the influence of Mr. McHalpin, secretary of the Bridge-Beach Manufacturing Co.

Capt. Baxter Was in Command.

The lighthouse tender, with that bronzed old veteran, Capt. Billy Baxter, at the wheel, made excellent headway against the current where it was not constricted, but when the bridge was neared, it became plainly manifest that the little boat could not force its way against the millrace that came through the piers, where the channel is so much narrowed.

Capt. Baxter called for help, and the tug Reliance responded promptly, pushing the tender under the arch and on into open water.

The tender was halted in midstream by a signal from a ferry, opposite North Market street, and was asked to take from the ferry a half dozen men who were en route from the city to the overflowed region to join their families, who were supposedly on the Mark Twain, higher up the river.

The transfer was quickly made, and half an hour later the anxious men were delivered to the Mark Twain, which was tied up near the Merchants' Bridge.

Proceeding to Madison, the tender discharged a number of members of the Niedringhaus company, who were carrying supplies to the water-bound hundreds at their shops.

The landing was effected on a dike which still holds a dry crown above the swollen waters and shelters an inland sea in which Madison is submerged. Passengers and supplies were carried across the dike and deposited in skiffs for a half mile pull to the company shops.

Meanwhile a few blasts of the whistle had provoked much activity in the distant buildings, and in five minutes boats were shooting out from many of the distant houses, where the water held full possession of the lower floors.

All of the boats carried passengers—mostly women and children—with satchels, trunks and other portable possessions, and all courses concentrated to the point on the narrow thread of land where the steamboat held fast to the top of a willow tree.

In less than an hour 48 fugitives were board the little tender, and though the accommodations were not luxurious, the welcome was so cordial as to bring smiles to wan faces to which a smile had long been a stranger.

Notwithstanding the pitiful, the awful character of this goodby to home, there was little or no repining. The ladies were fairly cheerful and to the little folks it was a great lark, made all the more enjoyable by the sweets from the lunchboxes, with which the pilot house was well supplied.

"You're Only Po' Drownded Out Folks."

Capt. Baxter was beaming with joy as he entertained this strange company in his little sky parlor. He declared it beat pulling snags and tending light clean out of sight, and had Mrs. Baxter been aboard he would doubtless have been admonished to go tend his wheel. The children were his special joy, and everybody laughed when he told a fat baby to "stop that there crowin' an makin' a fuss. You're only po' drowned out folks, anyhow! You can't skeer anybody!"

A quick trip was made to the foot of North Market street, where the passengers were delivered within a short walk of the Broadway cars. Then, straight over into the great waste, where willows dotted the flood the boat went, skimming through the tops of trees, until the swirl showed that a railroad embankment was close under the surface, and further progress was dangerous.

A short distance away a locomotive, standing on a switch, was in a great state of humiliation, with its nose deep down in the water, and a squatty little houseboat tied to its tail. A floodbound humorist had clambered from the houseboat to the engine and was ringing its bell—a strange sound on the face of the waters.

A large yawl was lowered, and the brawny Modoc men took the oars, with Mr. W. M. Williamson of the United States engineer's office steering and Mr. Arthur Eveson in charge. Off through the brush they went, with a great swing, and cross currents that swished ordinary skiffs zigzag did not bother them at all.

In less than two hours they demonstrated the correctness of the theory that much suffering existed in districts which were not easily accessible from the river.

A list of fully 60 families in dire want of food was soon made up, but the sufferers were in every case unwilling to come aboard the steamboat.

They refused transportation to St. Louis, because they were determined to protect what little remained of their household goods. All, or nearly all, were ready to come provided the boat would take their goods as well, but, of course, this was impracticable.

Load of Supplies Was Taken Back.

After a liberal list was prepared, the crew returned to the boat, and the boat to North Market street, where, through the assistance of Mr. Langenberg of the Merchants' Exchange relief committee, a lot of supplies were quickly gotten together.

With these arranged for quick distribution, the tender went back into the flat country, and soon the suffering people were made glad. Part of the relief was right in the heart of Brooklyn.

Opposite the town hall four houses were visited where bread, and none too much of it, constituted the family provision. In each case the skiff was brought to the foot of a short ladder leading to a second-floor window, through which the food was carried in.

Sufferers Displayed a Generous Spirit.

All deliveries were made after actual investigation of supplies on hand, and a most notable feature of the experience was the absence of greediness and misrepresentation on the part of the beneficiaries. There seemed in no case a disposition to exaggerate a need or to claim an undue share of food, while in scores of cases came a volunteer admonition such as this: "Say, mister, you ought to go over to that house yonder. That family's awful poor, and they've just got nothing."

The lesson of the flood to these poor people seemed to be one of charity—a charity far greater than that which inspires even their benefactors, since it subordinates the needs—not the comforts—of self to the needs of the neighbor.

Moving under a direction of this character the skiff passed over the top of a grape arbor to a building that looked like a barn. A door was thrown open and an old German received with much gratitude an allotment of meat and coffee, to be divided among his family of four.

"I am so much obliged," said he, "but gentlemen, if you could only help my poor horses. They have been standing now for four days in water over their bellies. I give them some feed, by using my little boat, but I feel so bad for them that they can't lay down."

Thirty-Six Persons Crowded in One Room.

Two blocks away from the town hall 36 people, white and colored, are crowded into the two rooms of the second story of a schoolhouse. The building is probably 25x50 feet. All of the furniture of nine or ten families is in this space, so that only a few narrow passages remain open. Their larder showed them to be in real need of food. It was supplied, and without jealousy or wrangle among them.

Dodging trolley wires the skiff moved up between the tops of two lines of shade trees on what must have been a pretty street. Chickens and dogs were in evidence everywhere. The chickens occupied the roofs of floating sheds or dwellings, and seemed perfectly contented as they pecked at the grains of feed thrown to them. The dogs were generally on the floating board sidewalks, in front of houses, and seemed more apprehensive and sensible of the fact that the situation was serious. Yet every dog was loyal to his home and refused, even savagely, to be tempted into the skiff.

On a second-floor veranda of a comfortable frame house 18 colored women and children sat in the bright light of the sinking sun, water all around and almost in touch of their feet. There had been some singing of hymns, and a very aged woman, with a deep voice, greeted the boat as she laid away her bible, with the glad declaration:

"I knowed God would send youse here. We been prayin and hopin' and now you all done brought us somethin' to eat.

There was a great chatter, a holding out of aprons, and much laughing and congratulation as the coffee, sugar and canned pork and beans were handed in. Investigation showed that the need was serious.

In fact, but for the immense number of chickens in this town, where the colored race predominates, the suffering would have been infinitely greater than it has been. While the African can navigate a plank or a tub to the woodshep and pick a pullet off the roof the world is never real dark. Fortunately, too, he realizes better than all other men, that "tomorrow hasnt got here yet."

One Hundred Families Living in Box Cars.

This Ethiopian characteristic of contentment on a slippery basis was illustrated best by a brawny young man who stood on the floating sidewalk near his house, and was having no end of fun with a mouse on a shingle that he had lifted out of the current.

A half mile further on a half mile line of box cars on a narrow ridge, with a sea on both sides, sheltered probably a hundred families—some white, some colored. All had some sort of a cook stove, with stovepipe peeking out at the side door of the car. Many of these families were well provided, but fully 25 of them were in dire distress.

In one car three women were prostrated by illness, and there was absolutely nothing on their table. These victims are helping one another, but food has been so scarce that there has been a compulsory limit to charity. Each family was given one or two days' provisions, but more must be done this afternoon or tomorrow.

REFUGEES FROM EAST ST. LOUIS WAITING FOR FRIENDS TO COME TO THEIR AID

ST. LOUIS CARES FOR 3000 FLOOD REFUGEES

From East St. Louis, Venice, Madison and Granite City They Came, and of This Number 2000 Were Sheltered and Fed by the City and Various Charitable Institutions.

Three thousand flood refugees from Venice, Madison, Granite City and East St. Louis were sheltered and cared for in St. Louis Wednesday night.

Fully 2000 of these were provided for by various charitable associations working in conjunction with the Merchants' Exchange relief committee, while the remainder found places in the homes of relatives, friends and acquaintances.

Of those who are destitute 265 were taken in charge by the police of the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth districts.

Three hundred were given food, lodging and clothing at the old power house of the transit company at 3710 North Broadway. Fifty more received care in a tenement house at Second and Angelica streets.

There were 70 refugees who found an asylum in the Fourth Christian Church at Blair avenue and Penrose street.

Room and provision for 50 more were made in Heinze's old pickle factory, 3906 North Broadway, while 80 found a welcome haven at the Salvation Army branch building, 1413 Franklin avenue, and 125 at the other branch at 116 South Sixth street.

The Union Mission Association at 1432 Franklin avenue furnished a temporary home for 100 flood victims, and 25 were sheltered at the old church at Eleventh and Locust streets by the People's Fund and Welfare Association.

The Volunteers of America, 1614 Franklin avenue, provided for the immediate necessities of 100 homeless persons from the deluged cities.

The remainder of the refugees were given every attention in places provided by private individuals, who worked independently of the philanthropic associations.

All Societies Worked Together.

The Merchants' Exchange Relief Committee as the central body in the work of succor was given co-operative aid by the Provident Association, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the United Jewish Charities, the police department, North End Citizens' Association, Salvation Army, Union Mission, Volunteers of America, People's Fund and Welfare Association and other organizations.

The greatest harmony prevailed, and a system of relief was evolved which enabled St. Louis to provide for the thousands who have been rendered destitute and homeless by the flood.

The police and representatives from the relief committees met the refugees at the bridges and landings as they were brought from the Illinois side, and conducted them to the places where food, warm clothing, beds and a cordial welcome were in waiting.

First the refugees were examined by the health department and given certificates showing that they were free from contagious diseases. These certificates admitted them to the places provided for flood sufferers. The sick were sent to the hospitals.

As rapidly as possible those who were in immediate need of clothing were provided from the contributions made. Many were thinly clad. Some were without shoes. All were supplied.

Next they were fed. Coffee, sandwiches, bread and butter, vegetables and well cooked food of all kinds were served.

Each Person Was Given a Cot.

Supper was served from 6 to 8 o'clock, and then the cots were arranged for the night. Each person had a cot and sufficient covering to rest in perfect comfort. At 9 o'clock lights were extinguished, and the fatigued refugees, relieved from their vigil of days, slept the sleep of utter exhaustion.

Cots were held in reserve for late comers, and until midnight they entered the places of refuge and asked for assistance.

In the old power house, where the refugees were cared for by the North St. Louis Citizens' Association, Secretary James McCallum was in charge.

Eight large rooms had been placed at the association's disposal by the transit company, which also furnished electric lights.

The arrangements were very efficient. Supper was served in the largest room, in which 500 persons had room to eat.

Women of the vicinity did everything possible in making the sufferers comfortable. The children were given soup, rolls, coffeecake and crullers, in addition to coffee, sandwiches and other viands, which the adults received.

No smoking was allowed in the building and the order was perfect. A few attempts of imposters to pass themselves off as refugees were quickly discovered. These attempts were very rare, the relief workers say, and whenever there appeared to be any doubt the applicant was always given the benefit.

The women and children were assigned to seven rooms, where there was some privacy. There were plenty of cots, bedding and other necessaries.

The men and boys were assigned to the largest apartment. At 8:30 the cots were placed around the room, the bedding was distributed and when the signal was given at 9 o'clock the wearied refugees retired, their material wants satisfied.

The call to awake Thursday morning was sounded at 6 o'clock and at 7 breakfast was served. Breakfast was a repetition of the menu of the day before.

After the conclusion of the meal the relief workers were busily employed in distributing clothing to the children and ministering to their wants. The rooms are fumigated several times a day with carbolic acid as a sanitary precaution.

At the Fourth Christian Church, Blair avenue and Penrose street, the auditorium and annex rooms were transformed into sleeping apartments and the benches into beds by means of blankets and quilts. Others occupied cots. Supper and breakfast was cerved on tables in the basement and the food was prepared in the kitchen adjoining.

At the Salvation Army annexes the meals consisted of ham and eggs, bread and butter and milk. Owing to the milk famine the condensed brand was in use. At both of the Salvation Army branches the refugees slept on cots.

More children can be found at the Union Mission than in any other refuge. Seventy-five workers are employed by this society in the work of alleviating flood sufferers. Some are soliciting contributions of money, food and clothing; others are in personal attendance at the mission, while the remainder are at the bridges and boat landings to welcome the stricken ones.

There are two large rooms in use. In the rear one the women and children are congregated. It is light and cheerful and the children, who had just finished breakfast, were playing in high glee when a Post-Dispatch representative called, while their mothers, hollow-eyed and haggard, watched them with wan smiles.

"In all my previous relief work," declared M. B. Gott, president of the association, "I have never seen such suffering and utter prostration as we saw Wednesday night when these East St. Louis refugees arrived.

"The men were completely worn out from their long fight to save the levees, and the rush to get their families to safety took away the little strength they had.

"Many of them were ravenously hungry, for they had had little to eat in four days.

"The first thing we did was to get them to the tables and fill them with food.

"They were allowed to eat until they had enough. Then they were given good beds. Food and sleep have done wonders for the discouraged men, and in a few days they will be ready to take up the battle again.

"We are keeping a register in order that relatives and friends who are making inquiries for missing ones can easily learn just who is sheltered in our mission."

The old church at Eleventh and Locust streets has been transformed into a depot for flood supplies. Anything of use for relieving the wants of the victims can be sent to this place, where distribution will be made. Over 250 bundles of clothing and shoes were received Thursday morning.

A number of the leading department stores are donating the use of their delivery wagons in hauling the supplies contributed to the old church.

Supplies are also being received at the old power house, 3710 North Broadway, and after the persons there are taken care of what is left in the way of clothing and bedding will be sent to the other refugees in North St. Louis.

The cots and bedding are being contributed by the Merchants' Exchange relief committee. The members of the executive committee of the Merchants' Exchange relief committee are H. F. Langenburg, chairman; O. L. Whitelaw, Festus J. Wade, Elias Michael, Chales P. Senter, E. A. Faust.

Already the fund raised by this committee has reached $15,000, and the contributions are coming in at the rate of $1500 a day. More money is needed.

Chairman Langenburg states that the work of the committee is divided into two distinct heads—temporary relief work and the rehabilitation of the homeless thousands.

The sufferers must be taken care of by St. Louis until the waters recede, and they can return to their former abodes.

Then the second stage of rehabilitating them must be met. Many no longer have homes, and those who have will find them greatly damaged by the flood. They will need furniture and enough supplies to go to housekeeping until they are once more self-sustaining. It is to meet this demand that the committee asks that the contributions be continued.

An asylum for colored refugees has been established at 206 North Main street.

RIVER FRONT AND TERMINALS.

The Post-Dispatch directs the attention of the people of St. Louis, and especially of the Mayor and Municipal Assembly, to the object lesson supplied by the Mississippi with regard to the value of the river front and the necessity of a change in the location of the St. Louis railroad terminals.

The river is now the only means of transportation on the east side of St. Louis; all traffic must be carried on by boats. Every boat in the river is in active service, carrying passengers and freight.

A view of the river front shows the wharf boats anchored almost against the elevated railroad structure on the levee. All traffic must be taken under that structure, which is partly submerged in the water. If the water were a few feet higher St. Louis would be completely cut off from the river and neither passengers nor freight could be handled by boat. The elevated is now greatly in the way of river traffic.

If the remainder of the levee space is given up to another four-track elevated road the next flood will probably find St. Louis practically cut off from the use of the river, which is an imperative necessity in flood times.

The St. Louis railroad terminals on the East Side are submerged in water, with all the freight assigned to St. Louis tied up in the flood. All East Side railroad traffic has ceased and cannot be resumed until the flood on the East Side recedes and the terminal buildings and tracks are repaired and put into working order. Vast quantities of freight for St. Louis merchants are being water-soaked and ruined, at the expense of our merchants. Business in St. Louis is practically at a standstill on account of the condition of the East Side terminals.

If the railroad terminals of St. Louis were high and dry in St. Louis, where they ought to be, how much would St. Louis business suffer from the greatest possible flood? The terminals and freight would not be in the water and the railroads would find outlets to the west and south for a large part at least of their St Louis traffic. The problem of keeping the East Side lines free from flood disaster would be greatly simplified, as it would be necessary only to protect lines running directly to and from St. Louis through the lowlands. Elevated structures well above the highest water mark could run from the bridges to high ground.

Two conclusions have been thoroughly demonstrated by the present flood:

1. THE ST. LOUIS RIVER FRONT MUST BE PRESERVED FOR RIVER TRAFFIC.

2. THE ST. LOUIS RAILROAD TERMINALS MUST BE REMOVED TO ST. LOUIS.

In dealing with the terminal franchise bills the Mayor and Municipal Assembly should insist upon these points. They cannot do a greater service to St. Louis than to secure these conditions.

Are women more lawless than men? The men of St. Louis have ceased to spit on the sidewalks. Many women of St. Louis have not ceased to wear hats of all sizes in halls and other places of meeting and entertainment. It may be said that the law causes men to refrain from spitting, but this cannot be wholly true, for thousands of men could spit every day without being seen. Men have catarrh or tobacco and find it difficult to always remember not to expectorate. It ought to be as easy for a woman to remove her hat as for a man to refrain from spitting. Can it be possible that, after all, the rough sex may be more refined than the sweet sex?

PLAYING "HIRED GIRL."

Following the example of Mrs. and Miss Van Vorst, Miss Pettingill, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College, put herself in the place of the toilers and hired out as a domestic servant. She worked a year and now relates her wonderful experiences.

Miss Pettingill ranked well at college and her views on sociological questions were probably correct. College students usually are correct. But the lady's ability as a cook was not equal to her skill as a logician with a store of approved premises.

She did the best she could, however, and learned some surprising things.

Although only tolerated as a servant, she found most employers kind and patient. She heard a good many stories from other servants of the unfeeling character of ladies, but though she never kept a place long and lived in several families, she was never treated inconsiderately.

How wonderful. How important for the world to know that most women who keep hired help are kind, patient and considerate. Just like most other women, aren't they?

Prof. Wyckoff set a good deal of nonsense going when he took [illegible] tramping. Men and women with correct views and [illegible] bored, take to slumming of one sort or another. They want to put themselves in the place of "the lower classes" and write about it for the benefit of other people with correct views.

The fallacy lies in the fact that they cannot put themselves in the others' places. The back door is always open, so that they can escape from their experiment whenever they like. Freedom, which they cannot surrender, is just what makes the difference between them and the people whom they "study" by becoming tramps and hired girls. The effect of this freedom, obvious to everybody else, is not included in the experiments of the observers.

The enormous destruction of property in East St. Louis, the loss of life and the destitution which has overtaken so many of those driven from their homes make up a heart-breaking tragedy. Nothing could exceed the splendid energy with which the people fought the danger. Night and day for a week they toiled, men and women, without ceasing. The admiration of the world is excited by such heroic endeavor. But now that the water has overcome and a large part of the city is submerged, help must be contributed promptly and abundantly. Relief work is organizing and all benevolent persons should co-operate to relieve the distress.

THE WESLEY BICENTENNIAL.

The bicentennial of John Wesley, who was born June 28, 1703, commemorates an event of much more than sectarian interest.

When Wesley died in 1791 his followers numbered 134,589, of whom 7,621 were in the United States. According to statistics collected in 1892 there were 18,650,000 English-speaking Methodists in the world of all descriptions. In the United States there were 5,966,500 Methodists of all denominations in 1902.

He was one of the first to denounce the slave trade, and his book on the subject is said to have exerted an influence comparable only to that of Uncle Tom's Cabin.

W. H. Lecky, the historian of England in the eighteenth century, said: "If men may be measured by the work they accomplish John Wesley can hardly fail to be regarded as the greatest figure that has appeared in the religious world since the days of the reformation." Robert Southey, whose biography of Wesley appeared before Wesleyism had ceased to be an object of ridicule, said in this biography: "The Emperor Charles V and his rival of France appear at this day infinitely insignificant, if we compare them with Luther and Loyola, and there may come a time when the name of Wesley will be more generally known and in remoter regions than that of Frederic or of Catherine." That the time has come is acknowledged.

One of the immediate effects of Wesley's work was the elevation of the moral tone in England and the enforcement of rigorous moral qualifications in public men. No man can hope to succeed in Parliament whose life is known to be clouded by evil doing. The "non-conformist conscience" must be reckoned with by every English politician, as some have learned by costly experience.

Like other heroes of thought Wesley can be claimed by no one nation, much less by one sect. His good influence has worked its way into remote places of the earth and is potent among the people of diverse faiths. His birthday, therefore, will be a celebration in which everyone can participate with good show of right.

The Hawaiian Decision.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

It is a severe strain upon the reverence in which the people have always held the tribunal of last resort to know that its latest decision is that of Justices Brown, White, McKenna, Holmes and Day, traversed by that of Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Harlan, Brewer and Peckham; that in open court Justice Harlan was moved dramatically to dissent altogether from an opinion the effects of which he represented in the darkest language, while the chief justice earnestly and with marked emphasis charged the majority with tampering with the plain words of the congressional resolution on which the issue hung—an act which he [illegible] as "almost criminal."

A RHYME AND NOT A RHYME.

The peculiarity about the final words of the following lines is that they rhyme perfectly to the eye, but not at all to the ear.

The sun, to make his daily tour,
Arises at the usual hour.
With flaming face and gorgeous head,
The universe he seems to lead,
For light and grandeur both combine
To glorify the day's routine.
On earth he shows us plainly how
The blossoms can be made to blow,
When gentle winds go sweeping through
The leafy and resplendent bough,
Which, when shall fade the beauteous flower,
With ripening fruit will hang still lower.
He dries the water from the slough;
He cheers the farmer at his plough,
And lights the face of nature, though
At times his kiss is rather rough.
Though earth below and skies above
At times his fervor seems to move,
There is no magic and no sleight
By which we can escape his weight;
And since this mundane sphere 's our home,
His moods we must take as they come.

That Belleville lynching was one of those polite, orderly affairs and was conducted with all the propriety of a Sunday-school picnic, but, as in the case of most outrages of this kind, it required a lot of whisky to nerve the murderers up to the point of action.

The work she did with tongue and pen
Her whole attention had.

From being tough and bad.

It really was a fad.

When a man goes into a restaurant and orders "a cup of coffee, half milk, and a nice tongue sandwich on white bread, with no butter," you can draw your own conclusions.

If the saloon is such a noble institution, "the poor man's club" and all that, why is it always ordered shut up and closed down in times of great public excitement and peril?

Appropriate.

"I think I will name my automobile 'The Jefferson Club.' "

"Why so?"

"Because it is such a perfect machine."

East St. Louis, in preparing yesterday to celebrate her deliverance from the flood, placed herself in the attitude of the man who hollered before he got out of the woods.

Mayor Kern characterizes the Belleville lynching as a "disorder." Surely not! How can a picnic be placed in the same category as a rough house?

The cost of a single battleship invested in dredgeboats for Western rivers might have spared us all this trouble, excitement and damage.

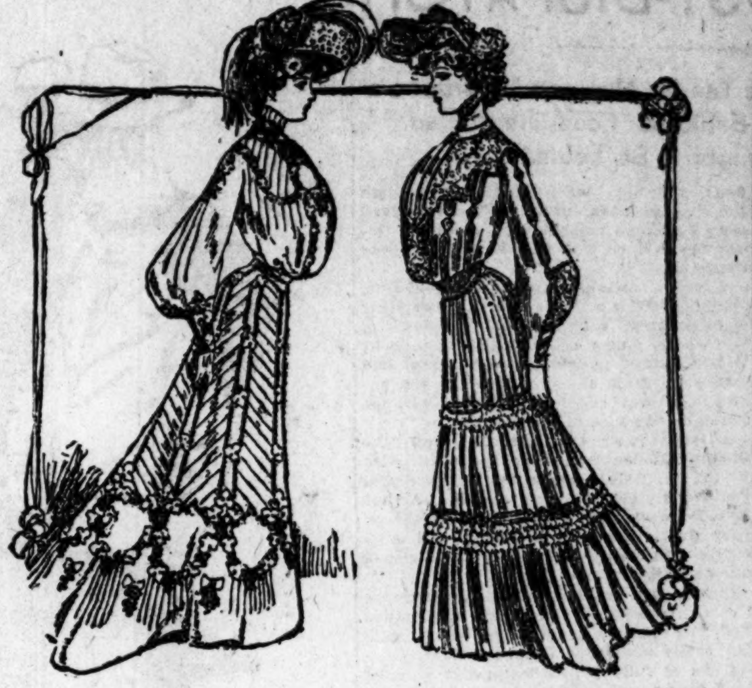
POST-DISPATCH FASHIONS

SUMMER GOWNS FROM VIENNA



The first gown is of straw-colored louisine, trimmed with a beautiful white applique, in a grape design, showing underneath blue moire taffeta. The skirt is composed of narrow breadths, tucked diagonally, which are united by guipure insertion. The flounce is made with groups of plaits and headed by guipure, inclosing motifs of taffeta.

The blouse is plaited at the top and trimmed with the insertion, simulating a collar. Motifs of taffeta bordered with guipure trim the front. The little waistcoat is black velvet, and the girdle is of the louisine. The sleeves are made and trimmed to correspond.

The other gown is of black grenadine. The skirt is made with groups of shirring, headed by black galloon.

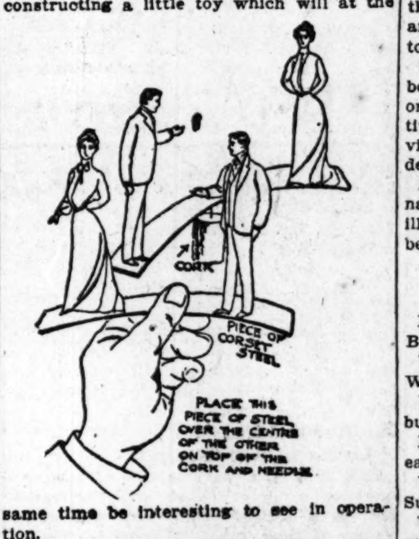
This same galloon trims the blouse, which has a collar and front of yellowish guipure. It is trimmed around the neck and down the front with a band of red velvet, trimmed with the galloon, which also trims the little waistcoat. The standing collar is of white silk, finished at the top with guipure. The sleeves are made and trimmed to correspond. The girdle is of black velvet.—Wiener Chic.

FOR THE YOUNG FOLKS

ELECTRIC ATTRACTION AND REPULSION

It is well known that poles of the same name repel each other, and that those of contrary names attract each other; in other words, negative or positive electricity attracts electricity of the opposite sign and repels that of the same sign.

The principle may be demonstrated by constructing a little toy which will at the same time be interesting to see in operation.



CORK
PIECE OF CORSET STEEL
PLACE THIS PIECE OF STEEL OVER THE CENTRE OF THE OTHER ON TOP OF THE CORK AND NEEDLE

Plant a needle into a cork by way of a pivot; then take two old corset steels, or, if they are not convenient, the spring of a clock, and magnetize them by means of a magnetic bar or a machine. In the middle of one of the steels make a slight indenture so that the needle can turn freely on the cork without danger of falling. You will then have constructed a mariner's needle or compass.

Next cut out four little paper dolls, two men and two women, and place a pair on each steel, one person at each end.

Now every time that you present one of the men to the other they will be repelled, and if you present a woman to him they, too, will be attracted.

The explanation is simple. You must only be careful to place the men and women on the contrary poles, the men on the positive and the women on the negative, or vice versa. You will then be able to demonstrate the principle mentioned above.

An amusing variation may be had by naming the dolls for people present and by illustrating antipathy as well as affinity between the men and women.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Neglected Street.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We wish to call attention to the impassible and dilapidated condition of Tenth street from Olive to Pine street. This thoroughfare, in the heart of the new business district, has been torn up and piled with rubbish of barrels, trestles and blocks, together with piles of paving stones thrown in a tangled mass that is a standing blot on our street department and New St. Louis.

The merchants of Tenth street and vicinity have stood with patience the torn-up condition of this street for the past four or five months. But now the sewer has been completed and there is no reason for the delay in opening the street for public use.

The impassable condition of this street has cost the merchants of this vicinity thousands of dollars in trade. Cannot our street department, which claims to be making such rapid headway on to New St. Louis, do something to show their efficiency? Is there any reason why the street should be neglected and left in this condition two months after the sewer has been laid.

Reward of Honesty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Last evening while standing at Broadway and Olive a lady ran to catch a car. While running she dropped a $10 bill. A one-legged newsboy, who stands at Broadway and Washington avenue, picked it up. The car was about one-third the block up when he let out a yell to the conductor to stop the car, as a lady (he did not say woman) had dropped $$10. I asked him woman) had dropped $10. I asked him what she gave him when he came back. He said 30 cents, which would not pay for his supper and the shave which he needs so badly. Is that the way to encourage honesty? I would like to hear from some others on this point.

"Only to See Her Face."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Here are the words of a song that was asked for some time ago:

Only to see her face again,
Only to hear her speak.
Only to see her smile again,
Only to hear her speak.

She was as fair as any flower,
Full of beauty and of grace,
One little wish is all I ask,
Only to see her face.

CHORUS.

Only to see her face again,
Full of beauty and of grace.
One little wish is all I ask,
Only to see her face.

Only to see her face again,
Fair as the stars above.
Only to hear one little word,
Only one word of love.

Sad was the night when we parted,
Down by the old trysting place,
Where last we kissed our sad farewell;
Only to see her face.

Better Car Service Wanted.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will you through your columns ask the management of the transit railway to give us Page boulevard patrons better service. We, living beyond Taylor avenue, without we go to Third street to get a seat, have to stand until we reach Taylor. Passing Washington avenue and Tenth street, it will average three Park avenue cars to one Page, and no standing room on Page and plenty of seats on Park cars. It looks like those managers don't know where the people live in St. Louis.

PAGE BOULEVARD.

Vandalism Should Be Stopped.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There has been a great deal said in editorials and by civic improvement leagues, etc., about tree-planting as a means of beautifying our city, but it is rather discouraging to those who plant trees to find them injured and destroyed by boys. As so much of this thoughtless or pernicious destruction, like many other violations of city ordinances, escapes the eyes of the police, it would seem to be necessary to have a certain number of detectives in plain clothes whose duty it would be to catch and arrest anyone violating the city ordinances that cover such cases and anything relating to the proper use of the streets. Casting paper on the streets and sweeping at improper hours should also be stopped.

In addition children should be taught in home, school and church to respect the rights of others and that an injury to the person or property of another is a much greater offense than an injury to themselves. A few examples would have a salutary effect and be a means of education that seems to be needed.

Teachers' Salaries.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Having read two articles in your paper on the subject of teachers' salaries, I would like to make the subject a little clearer in that respect. The second grade teachers, who are in the majority of the number of St. Louis teachers, receive $430 a year, of 10 months, or 40 weeks. The time is divided into eight parts, making payday come every five weeks, instead of four as in every other business, making it very irregular and inconvenient to pay rent, board or anything else that comes at regular times, mostly on the first of every month.

The last check for this year will be received on the 11th of the present month. School begins on Sept. 7. Teachers must work until Wednesday of the sixth week before another check comes on Oct [illegible]—18 weeks without any money. One week at Christmas, without pay, making a wait of over six weeks at that time without any money. Therefore they must either run into debt, or pay two months' bills out of one check and save money besides to live on, during the 13 weeks of the summer.

It is about time the salary was raised and the paydays were changed in this New St. Louis.

DOUBTFUL.

Mr. Softleigh: Tommy, do you really think your sister likes to see me better than she does Mr. Brown?

Tommy: I'm sure of it, for evenings when he's in the parlor she turns the light down so low she can't see him at all.—Pick-Me-Up.

FUN AND INTERESTING READING MATTER FOR THE HOME CIRCLE

THE OLD JOKES' HOME

By O. B. Joyful.

Here it is, just the way it came. It is fierce, I know, but you must remember the case of Tom Sawyer, Peter, the tomcat, and the painkiller.

Tom Sawyer was feeding a crack in the floor with the painkiller when Peter came along and eyed the spoon avariciously.

"Do you want some of this?" asked Tom Sawyer.

Peter, the tomcat, assented in his knowing feline way that he did, and Tom gave it to him. Well, if you know painkiller or if you have ever read "Tom Sawyer," you know what happened.

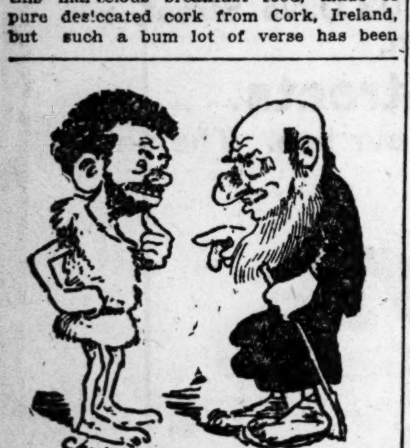
"Now," said Tom, just as he was about to administer the dose, "remember that you asked for this; so if you don't like it you must not blame me."

So it is with the following verse. You may not like it, but in case you don't, remember that you asked for it; so don't blame the management of the Old Jokes' Home. Here it is:

> If you would be strong and healthy
> And full of vigor and of vim,
> Eat "Cork-O" for breakfast,
> And you never will be thin.

Now, you wouldn't believe that a man in his right mind would write rot like that, would you? Of course not; and it is by no means certain that he was in his right mind. Had he been, he surely would not have sent his name and address. However, under the rulings already laid down we cannot do otherwise than enter these four lines in the great Cork-O verse contest, which closes at 5 o'clock this evening.

Something is the matter with the poets of St. Louis. They must be off their feed. Plenty of them are trying their best to win the $50 worth of Cork-O that has been hung up as a prize for the writer of the best verse which can be used in advertising this marvelous breakfast food, made of pure desiccated cork from Cork, Ireland, but such a bum lot of verse has been turned in that it is doubtful if Prof. Hesa Corker, inventor of this marvelous food and assistant superintendent of the Old Jokes' Home, can be induced to accept any one of the samples turned in for a purpose so important.



Abraham: Who was the greatest inventor the world has seen since the flood, my son?

Isaac: Noah was, father.

Abraham: Why so, my son?

Isaac: Because he made the arc light on Mt. Ararat.

However, that is a matter upon which the judges must first pass, and we will not anticipate.

In case the prize is not awarded to any of the contestants, the $50 worth of Cork-O will be turned over to the Merchants' Exchange committee for the benefit of the flood sufferers.

The following important communication was received this morning:

Mr. O. B. Joyful.

Dear Sir—I learned to my sorrow of the escape from the Old Jokes' Home of "In the Good Old Summertime," an old reprobate of a song which has caused untold suffering in the world. I am glad to see that you have detectives on its trail, and will say for their information, and yours, that "In the Good Old Summertime" was seen doing stunts with the orchestra on board the steamer Spread Eagle Tuesday night, between Alton and St. Louis, both going and coming. I think you will be able to find it secreted somewhere about the boat, in case it was not thrown overboard by the indignant crowd or committed suicide out of remorse for its many misdeeds. Yours truly,

C. U. LATER.

This is cheering news. We will never falter in the good work until this old offender shall have been captured. Officer Jerry Sullivan and the busy blue ambulance are hot on the trial.

Here are a few old-timers which have been brought in for resuscitation and rest:

If animals laugh, wouldn't it be interesting to see a cow Lohengrin?

Smith's hen set for three weeks on a wooden door knob and hatched out a set of furniture.

> There is a boarding house,
> Not far away,
> Where they have fried ham and eggs
> Three times a day.
> Oh, how the boarders yell
> When they hear the dinner bell!
> Oh, how those eggs do smell,
> Three times a day!

A THOUGHT FOR THE DAY.

Good humor is the health of the soul; sadness is its poison.
STANISLAUS.

EXAMPLES OF CONVICT HUMOR.

There is at least one humorist in prison. He is now known to the world as "Napanoch 80,487," and his jokes are printed in the Star of Hope as follows:

Peter: Say, teacher, you must have a liquid voice.

Teacher (surprised): Why so, Peter?

Peter: Why, you never dry up.

Swift: Say, Buffalo, I've found out that a pig is not the only thing that squeals.

Dan: You're quite an enthusiast.

Duff: I am.

Dan: Yes, you are, and if some one would send you on a wild goose chase you'd speak of yourself as a sportsman.

Slippery Josh: Do you believe fiction is stranger than truth?

Silas: Why, yes. Every time I tell the P. K. the truth it sounds so strange that I see the "cooler."

Teacher: Who can describe a hill or mountain?

Rainbow (rising): Sir, a hill or mountain is a sock or pair of socks which has just come from the state shop, all darned up.

A man bought a horse for $250 and he sold it for 1½ cents for every nail in the horse's foot, doubling the price on every nail. What did he sell the horse for, or did he gain or lose, and how much?

"A 'wise guy' knows it all till some one else comes up and shows him something else."—Buffalo.

FITTING THEM OUT.

Boatkeeper: Would you like spoon oars, sir?

Cholly: Er—yes. I think we can use them—hey, Mollie?

AND THE COUNTERFEIT?

From the Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

R. E. Morse: Marriages are made in heaven, they say.

D. Vorse: Well, I've often thought this thing we call marriage wasn't the real article..

TWO LEADING QUESTIONS.

"Br'er Williams," said Brother Thomas, "'spose a mad bull wuzter take atter you, what would you do?"

"Climb a tree, suh!" said Brother Williams.

"But—'spose you had de rheumatism, en a wooden leg, en couldn't climb?"

Brother Williams was silent a moment, then he said:

"Br'er Thomas, it's des sich 'quisitive niggers ez you dat keeps dis race problem gwine. Ef de lynchin' committee don't git you finally it'll be 'kaze you outruns 'em!"—Atlanta Constitution.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER.

Young Mother: Now, Harold, whom do you love more, papa or me?

Harold: Papa.

Young Mother: But yesterday you said you loved me more.

Harold: Yes, but I've thought it over since and decided that we men must stick together.—Chicago Journal.

SLEEPER JUMPED ON A MEAT HOOK

Boy Dreamed He Was Driving and Leaped Through a Window.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—Dreaming that he was standing on a diving board over a cool lake of water, Jacob Buzaneck, a 12-year-old somnambulist, leaped from a second-story front window of his home, at 4165 Main street, Manayunk, early this morning and landed on a meat hook in front of his father's butcher shop on the first floor.

The sharp prong tore unmercifully through the flesh of the unfortunate youth's leg, and then, snapping in half, dropped with its human burden to the pavement below. There his parents found him.

Perambulating in his sleep has long been a habit of young Buzaneck. His father and mother have repeatedly saved him from rash nocturnal adventures. Fearful that he might elude them, they had the boy sleep in the same room with them. In spite of all their precautions, however, their son eluded them this morning and succeeded in landing on a hospital cot.

It was some time after midnight when Mrs. Buzaneck was awakened by a noise as of some one falling out of bed. Looking over the footboard she saw the form of her son swiftly running toward the window. This was wide open, and he promptly began climbing out on the sill. She yelled to him to stop, and then made a frantic dash out of bed toward the window, but too late. Just as her hands were about to touch him he jumped from the window.

Awakening her husband, Mrs. Buzaneck fled down the stairway, expecting to find the boy with his brains dashed out on the hard pavement below. Right on her heels was the father and when they opened the front door they found their son in a huddled unconscious heap on the pavement. A stream of blood and a long gash in the leg, with the broken meat-hook buried therein told their own tale.

The sharp hook had been hanging about six feet from the ground. During the day Buzaneck had been accusomed to hanging thereon his choicest cuts of meat. These were taken inside the shop at night, of course, but the hook was fastened to a frame and was therefore not removable. It had held much heavier weights than that of the boy's body, but the force with which he fell broke it off sharply. Young Buzaneck was suspended on the hook for only a second or so.

A patrol wagon was summoned and the youth was hurried to St. Timothy's Hospital. There the wound was treated for any possible blood poisoning and then sewed up.

Darden's Derby Candidate Will Try Again This Afternoon at Fair Grounds.

BY R. D. WALSH.

FAIR GROUNDS RACETRACK, June 11.—The feature event of today's racing program will be the fourth race.

It is a handicap at a mile and a sixteenth for 3-year-olds and upward. Six good horses will contest for this purse.

Monsieur Beaucaire will probably be favorite. It is not the first time that a horse has been made a false favorite on the local track.

On his record there is no reason why he should be accorded first position, and I expect to see him soundly beaten in this race today.

He may be a high-class horse, and I am not denying his merits, but he will have to show something better before he is selected to defeat Orris with such a difference in weight.

According to the scale he is giving her 33 pounds, and I cannot think that he is good enough to do that.

Light Opera beat Beaucaire easily last week with a difference of seven pounds in favor of the former, and with only four pounds between them today it looks like a close fit. W. B. Gates is always liable to cause a surprise in any company, but he is so erratic and uncertain that he is a dangerous horse to speculate on.

Fine Field of Two-Year-Olds.

Next to the handicap the second race will probably be the most interesting contest of the day. It comprises a fine field of 2-year-olds, and, as the track is fast, the fastest five furlongs of the season should be recorded here. Miss Crawford—the Darden filly—has been highly spoken of.

She has in fact been called "another Hamburg Belle." This, of course, is meant as a joke, because she has no such claims to greatness. She beat an ordinary field a few days ago with only a hundred pounds up, and she is asked to carry 110 today against vastly superior horses.

In my opinion she will not be one, two, three. St. Agnes, Pipe Dreams and Jehane look to be the contenders in this race, and I like them in that order. Pipe Dreams is very speedy, but she is asked to give St. Agnes seven pounds, which is far too much.

After Bengal's poor race yesterday it is impossible to select him to win the third race. He seems to have retrograded. What is the matter with One More in this race? Last Monday in a mile and seventy yards race he was out in front for seven furlongs and showed dazzling speed.

With Booker up again today I think he will annex this purse and he will be at a good price. Kitty Clyde and Kingstelle look the best of the others and should divide second and third money between them. The others are of very little account.

Fifteen very indifferent performers will meet in the opening race. Among them is the famous mare Nyx, on which so many coups and "killings" have been made in recent years. This seems to be a soft spot for her, and she may wake up with bewildering suddenness today.

On form, however, Geortuga figures best and with only 89 pounds up should win. I fancy Crime and Kinloch Park to run second and third.

The fifth race at a mile has half a dozen good performers engaged in it.

Pettijohn and Bas d'Or are the speediest but do not like the distance. Six furlongs is about as far as they want to go.

It is not certain that Scepter likes it, either, but his races would suggest that he can go a route. If he trails to the head of the stretch he will probably win.

Dolly Gray is long past due to win a race, and with a hustling ride should annex the last event. Kitty G. and Lady Idris should get a part of the money and if Centie is at a very long price it may pay to nibble at her.

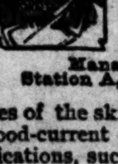
ECZEMA SETS THE SKIN ON FIRE

No disease causes so much bodily discomfort, or itches, burns and stings like Eczema. Beginning often with a slight redness of the skin it gradually spreads, followed by pustules or blisters from which a gummy, sticky fluid oozes which dries and scales off or forms bad looking sores and scabs. It appears on different parts of the body but oftenest upon the back, arms, hands, legs and face, and is a veritable torment at times, especially at night or when overheated.



In 1896 I experienced at times patches on the inside of my hands that itched and burned, causing much discomfort. As time went by it grew worse, and I was convinced that I was afflicted with Eczema. I consulted several physicians and a number of specialists, and used several external applications, receiving but slight temporary relief. In February I decided to try S. S. S., and in less than a month I experienced a change for the better, and by May all symptoms had disappeared, and I found myself entirely cured, and have had no return of the disease since. W. P. BRUSH, Manager Stockman's Advertising Agency. Station A, Kansas City, Mo.

The cause of Eczema is a too acid and general unhealthy condition of the blood. The terrifying itching and burning is produced by the overflow through the glands and pores of the skin of the fiery poisons with which the blood-current is over-loaded. While external applications, such as washes, soaps, salves and powers are soothing and cooling they do not enter into the blood itself or touch the real cause of the disease, but S. S. S. does, and purifies, enriches, and strengthens the thin acid blood and cleanses and builds up the general system, when the skin clears off and Eczema with all its terrifying symptoms disappears.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS IN BATTLE TONIGHT

Schreck and Walsh to Box Fifteen Rounds at West End Club.

Michael Schreck of Cincinnati and Andy Walsh of New York will box 15 rounds at 154 pounds at the West End Club, Thursday night, providing accidents of the game do not end the fray before the limit is reached.

The spectacular Schreck, whose fighting has pleased several local crowds, is picked as the winner by the ignorant, who are impressed by the cast iron appearance of the Cincinnatian.

The cognoscenti, the "wise," who give President Haughton advice the year round for the privilege of accepting board and lodging at his hands, say otherwise.

Andy Walsh is the winner, according to these, the opinion being based on what Walsh was before the Horton law in New York ended his fighting and his ambition.

"Cyclone" Kelly, one of the "cognoscenti" referred to, was among the first to discover that Walsh was going to whip Schreck.

Kelly once got into the ring with Schreck and should know something of the latter's fighting. As a matter of history, a belt in the waist of his "think-tank" prevented Kelly from having ideas on any subject for three days. He therefore cannot be considered a competent critic on Schreck.

Johnny Reagan, Mal Doyle's star, is authority for the statement that Walsh was once a good fighter, and if he can still go a route will be dangerous to any man of his weight. Reagan should know, as he hails from the same country as Walsh and has known of him for some time.

Walsh has fought some good battles in the dear old long ago, and that is as far as recent history can be authentic concerning him.

Two preliminaries will introduce the main event. In the first Nick Santora and Cooney Kelly will meet in a 10-round bout at 108 pounds.

In the other Jack Gill and Young McCoy will take part in a six-round contest at 124 pounds. Harry Sharpe will referee. Proceedings will start at 8:45.

Johnny Reagan departed Wednesday evening for Memphis, where he will box Johnny Kelley before the Phenix Athletic Club on a river barge June 17. Kelley is the little fighter who participated in several preliminaries at the West End Club against Major King and others.

He also resigned in favor of Harry Forbes after a long-sought bout with Champion Harry Forbes at Kansas City. Forbes was to have fought Kelley again at the Memphis affair, but the champion was unable to put in an appearance.

The game of the only human bulldog, Tommy Feltz, is very much sought after the hard rub given him by Clarence Forbes in their second fight. Abe Goodman, Tommy Sullivan of Brooklyn, Hugh McPadden and Abe Attell are all talked of for matches with the sturdy Savannah lad, whom neither want of condition nor a hard beating seems able to down.

Goodman has the call on Feltz fight, however, and as Haughton says it will be Feltz's last at the West End Club, somebody will have to be disappointed.

FAIR AND NOT A BIT WARM

Weather Bureau Gives Promise of Weather Which Approaches the June Ideal.

Genuine seashore weather. Cool breezes. Bright sunshine and oceans of water. Anything else desired?

And there is more to come. Listen to the pretty story from the weather bureau:

"Fair and continued cool tonight and Friday. Fresh northerly winds, becoming variable."

There is reason for the coolness and clearness of our atmosphere this morning. It's cool and clear other places as well as here. Do you know what was served as dessert in Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Northwest Iowa, South Dakota and Southwest Wisconsin?

Not ice cream, but crisp white frost, and this, you will remember, is the 11th day of June.

The weather is cool in all sections east of the Rocky Mountains. Here it was 51 at 5 o'clock this morning.

Showers and thunderstorms are fashionable in the lake region, the upper Ohio valley, the Atlantic coast and the Gulf states.

Rain to the depth of 2.8 inches fell upon Philadelphia yesterday.

GOURD DID DUTY AS AS NOAK'S ARK FOR MOUSE

A gourd floated on back water of the Mississippi into Pittsburg lake, seven miles from East St. Louis, Tuesday afternoon. A small boy fishing on the bank reached out and caught it, thinking it might serve for a toy for his baby sister.

In its side was a tiny hole. As he held it in his hand a little mouse jumped out of the hole. Foll ing it came hundreds of ants that craw over his hand.

The gourd had doing ark duty f mal flood suff

THE RIVER FALLS ABOUT HANNIBAL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HANNIBAL, Mo., June 11.—The river has fallen 18 inches below the highest point, and danger is passed, excepting to the Sny levee, which is still being watched closely, and will be for several days. Business is resuming its ordinary channels, and the work of cleaning up has been commenced. Train service is being resumed. The Sny levee is the only one remaining between Keokuk and St. Louis, and the Hannibal bridge was the only railroad crossing between Keokuk and Memphis, Tenn., during the high water.

LEVEE BREAKS, FIELDS DELUGED

CAIRO, Ill., June 11.—District No. 2, in Mississippi County, Mo., is under water, the levee which protects it having succumbed to the pressure of the water. Over 7000 acres of fine farming land, most of it in growing wheat, is under water from 5 to 20 feet.

The levee wihch protects District No. 1, surrounding Bird's Point, shows signs of weakening, and it is believed the crisis will be reached tonight. The farmers are making a desperate effort to save it.

FIVE CHILDREN UNACCOUNTED FOR

Byron Johnson, a former member of the St. Louis fire department, is searching for his five children, from whom he became separated during the rush of the flood in North Venice.

Johnson was working nights and was awakened by his children Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

He directed Birdie, his 16-year-old daughter, to take the children and go to the Madison School. He thinks they had time to reach the school before the water became deep.

Johnson, who is a widower, remained to take care of his household goods, thinking the children would be safe and he could join them later.

At 3 o'clock Monday morning he was taken from the roof of his house and sent to St. Louis. He does not know where the children are and has visited all of the places where refugees are cared for.

The children are Birdie, aged 16; Clarabel, aged 13; Byron, aged 11; Lee, aged 7; Willie, aged 2.

Johnson is living at the North Broadway car sheds.

REACHED PATIENT THROUGH FLOOD

Dr. William Grayson of Madison had a thrilling flood experience. When the water broke through the barrier, the physician was driving to the home of a patient.

The water rose so rapidly that his horse shied in front of a saloon at Madison and Tenth streets and the buggy was overturned.

Dr. Grayson was caught under the vehicle, and to save him from drowning, several men chopped the buggy to pieces with an ax.

The physician and the horse were taken into the saloon for safety, and later Dr. Grayson continued the journey to his patient by skiff.

Manders: Supposing a fellow was going to choose a wife, Colonel, how would you advise him to set about it?

The Colonel: I should advise him to select a little one.

Manders: What for?

The Colonel: Because when it is a question of a choice of evils it is best to choose the least.—Cassell's Journal.

MISSISSIPPI FALLS AT LOUISIANA

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISIANA, Mo., July 11.—Flood conditions are improving rapidly, the Mississippi having fallen two inches over night. Train service on the Burlington through this city has been resumed and the Chicago & Alton is busy driving piling in the gap in the roadbed where it was a part of the Sny levee. A temporary track will be laid on the piling and trains will be running in a few days. If the flood goes down promptly it is believed a corn crop can yet be made in the Sny bottoms.

HAIR A BULLET CUSHION.

Bullet Struck Girl's Head, but Did No Harm.

Ruth Deal, aged 11 years, was struck on the head by a bullet that Policeman Alexander intended for a dog. She was not injured beyond being momentarily stunned.

The policeman was shooting at the dog as it ran away from him, and Ruth crossed his path, on her way to school, Wednesday afternoon. The dog bit Alexander on the leg, and, after shooting the animal, he had the wound cauterized at the South Side Dispensary, where Ruth was cared for until she was able to go to school.

FATALLY CHOKED BY FOOD.

Anton Gretvinger, aged 75 years, was choked to death while at lunch Thursday by a piece of meat lodging in his throat.

Mr. Gretvinger was at lunch with his family at 7821 Water street, and those seated at the table noticed that he was choking. He tried to relieve himself, but by the time the members of the family realized that he was in danger he had begun to gasp for breath.

Dr. Starkloff was summoned, but before his arrival Mr. Gretvinger was dead.

We Know What

Is going to happen to the little boy who is stuffing himself with green apples. A grown man couldn't be induced to try that experiment; and yet the grown man will overload himself with indigestible food for which he will pay a greater penalty than colic. It is this careless and thoughtless eating which is the beginning of stomach trouble and all its painful consequences.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other forms of "stomach trouble." It restores the weak and run-down man or woman to sound health.

"Some time has elapsed since I have written you in regard to the treatment I have been taking under your instructions," says Mr. E. F. Cingmars, of Minneapolis, Minn. "When first I commenced taking your remedies I was under treatment of a well-known specialist in this city (and had been for four months), for catarrh, and especially stomach trouble, and I was rapidly getting worse. Got so bad that I could not eat anything that did not distress me terribly, and I was obliged to quit taking the doctor's treatment entirely. I was greatly reduced in flesh. As a last resort I wrote to you and stated my case, and, after receiving your instructions I followed them closely. After taking five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets' I commenced to improve, and decided to continue the medicines and observe your instructions regarding hygienic treatment. It is now nearly six months since I commenced your treatment and I can say that I am well and never felt better in my life. Am very grateful to you for what your medicine has done for me."

A HOT TIME DOWN IN SHOE-VILLE.

"Tropical weather down in your Boots!" said Billy Buzz Saw.

"Just warm enough there to steam, isn't it, Neighbor Foot?"

"Should think you'd enjoy coming out of your Rubber-house to take a little fresh air, and cool comfort!"

"The shoes you live in are certainly air-tight as tin, and sweaty as a rubber suit!"

"Yes—made of leather, 'tis true,—but they might as well be of rubber, because the pores of the leather have been completely sealed up in the tanning!"

"Filled with astringent minerals, or with caustic chemicals, and then puttied over with heating oils of suspicious origin!"

"No wonder you're sweaty, tender and sore!"

"Why don't you wear "Valvic Calfskin," the new ventilating leather, proven porous and sweat-dispelling as cloth, while wet-proof as Cravenette?"

"Just peep into Regal windows, and see there, in the 'Valvic Test,' how freely gas goes through the pores of this leather!"

"And if gas can go through its pores, perspiration can escape through them, also, can't it?"

"'Valvic Calf' can be had only in Regal oak soled shoes, at $3.50—or by mail, at $3.75."

A PESTIFEROUS GERM.

Burrows Up the Scalp Into Dandruff and Saps the Hair's Vitality.

People who complain of falling hair as a rule do not know that it is the result of dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite burrowing up the scalp as it digs down to the sheath in which the hair is fed in the scalp. Before long the hair root is shriveled up and the hair drops out. If the work of the germ is not destroyed hair keeps thinning till baldness comes. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and until now there has been no hair preparation that would do it; but today dandruff is easily eradicated by Newbro's Herpicide, which makes hair glossy and soft as silk. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Judge & Dolph Co., Raboteau & Co. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., special agents.

WOMAN SUSPECTED OF EIGHT DEATHS

Mrs. McKnight Admits Poisoning Brother and His Wife and Baby.

SUSPICIOUS FEATURES IN CASES OF EIGHT OTHERS

Prisoner Says She Gave Strychnine to Two Persons to Make Them Sleep and to Brother to End His Troubles.

DETROIT, Mich., June 11.—Eight other persons, besides her brother, wife and baby, to whose murder Mrs. McKnight confessed yesterday, investigation shows, have died in the past 15 years under circumstances that in view of the woman's confession today are now thought to be very suspicious.

All of the eight were either relatives or intimate friends, who died while living with Mrs. McKnight, or while she was at their houses.

All are said to have shown symptoms that are now believed to indicate strychnine poisoning. They are:

Ernest McKnight, the woman's husband; James Ambrose, her first husband, who died at Pena, in 1887; Mrs. McKnight, the wife of James E. McKnight, who was the partner of James Ambrose; baby Teeple, Mrs. McKnight's niece; Eliza Chalker, another niece, who died at Grayling in May, 1892; Sarah Murphy, Mrs. McKnight's sister, who also died at Grayling in February, 1893; a Mrs. Curry, who died in Saginaw in 1893, while Mrs. McKnight was at her mother's house, and Dorothy Benson, a child, who died in Graylight while under Mrs. McKnight's care during the absence of her mother.

There was no suspicion against Mrs. McKnight, in connection with the death of the Murphys, until she filed a mortgage on her brother's property after his death, on which the figures had, it is alleged, been raised from $200 to $600. An investigation was then begun.

The body of John Murphy was exhumed and strychnine found in the stomach. Mrs. McKnight was placed under arrest, with the result that she confessed.

In her confession, she says:

"I didn't intend harm to any of them. I did give the baby the strychnine. It woke up and cried, while its mother was gone, and I mixed up a little strychnine in a glass, with some water, and gave a spoonful to the baby. I did not mean to harm the little thing at all.

"I confessed all to the Lord this afternoon, and I feel that he has forgotten me.

"When Gertrude came home and found the baby dead she got awfully nervous. She came to me and said: 'Mary, can't you give me something to quiet me; something that you take yourself?'

"I said I would, and I really did not think that it would hurt if I gave her one of the capsules. She had spasms right after that, and I supposed that the strychnine killed her.

"Then John seemed to feel so badly about it that I often throught after Gerty died that it would be better for him to go, too. John was feeling bad one night, a couple of weeks after Gerty died. He wanted something to quiet him.

"I had two or three capsules on my dresser, and I told him to get one of them. I thought that it would soothe him, and then I thought it would be for the best if he were to go, anyway.

"He helped himself. Then he went to bed, and by and by called me. Mother came, too, and he began to have the same spasms."

The whole of the confession was given voluntarily, and Mrs. McKnight signed it after Prosecutor Smith had written it.

ST. LOUIS GROCERS AIDING IN RELIEF

The following letter of importance to retail grocers in St. Louis was received Thursday morning:

St. Louis, June 11, 1903.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The St. Louis Retail Grocers' Association has been appealed to by the Retail Merchants' Association of East St. Louis for assistance in taking care of the destitute flood sufferers of our sister city. This association at once responded to the appeal and a number of our members are now out with their delivery wagons calling on members of our association soliciting from them donations of food supplies. Christ Bauer and Henry Brockhoff are covering the district north of North Market street; George Klostermann and Charles Steding are canvassing between North Market and Franklin avenue; Lorenz Padberg and J. J. Hammond and Henry C. Neun are in the South End; President Charles Pfieffer, Vice-President Daniel L. Hatton and the secretary are in the Central District and John Morische and Joseph Meehan are in the sections nearer to their places of business.

We desire to appeal through the Post-Dispatch to such of our members as may not be reached by our committees to contribute food supplies of any kind to this cause.

All supplies should be sent to the Meehan Grocer Co., 415 Franklin avenue, where it is possible, but if grocers who wish to help find themselves unable to deliver the goods they acn call up the secretary, the undersigned, by Kinloch phone, B 189, office of the Interstate Grocer, and the goods will be called for.

We would thank you to print this communication in order that we may reach more of our members than our committees can possibly call on in the limited time that we have. Very respectfully,

ST. LOUIS RETAIL GROCERS' ASS'N.
ROBERT E. LEE, Secretary.

PIG IRON PRODUCTION RECORD.

May Led Large April Output by 50,-00 Tons.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The record production of pig iron in April was broken by a wide margin last month, according to figures prepared by the Iron Age, which shows that in May this country produced 1,7[illegible]8,000 tons of pig iron, compared with 1,646,000 tons in April. This is an increase of over 50,000 tons. Of this enormous total the steel companies produced 1,033,000 tons in May, against 963,000 tons in April.

The productive capacity has, however, been further enlarged during May, so that the whole active furnace plant of the country is now getting close to a rate of 400,-000 tons a week, which seems a staggering quantity for the consumption to take care of.

During May there was an accumulation of stocks of about 35,000 tons of coke iron and 5000 tons of charcoal iron, which is about the rate at which belated foreign pig iron has been coming in. This would look as though consumption is now very close to the actual rate of output. There are indications that large interests are quietly testing the market in the hope of securing supplies for the second half of the year at figures considerably below the present range. There has been somewhat more buying lately, but it is still far below the normal.

The southern situation does not seem to have been cleared. Outside furnace interests are again underselling the official price, without, however, marketing much.

The tidewater steel market is easier, owing to somewhat lower offerings of foreign billets.

A Wide Difference.

From the Somerville Journal.

Kate: Is there much difference in their social position?

Nell: O, yes. Her father gets a salary and his father gets wages.

Slanderers Welcome.

From the Washington Star.

"Don't you think you had better try to keep these people from circulating untruths about you?"

"No," answered Senator Sorghum; "if I can cerate the impression that I am habitually slandered I reckon I will be better off."

LINDSLEY PUPILS AT OLYMPIC GOSSIP OF SUMMER GARDENS

A decidedly satisfactory entertainment was given at the Olympic Theater last night by the pupils of the Lindsley School of Dramatic Art, which was well attended by the friends of the school and of the pupils. Clever acting, handsome dressing, beautiful scenery and effects, contributed to an allround evening's enjoyment. The same professional tone, which characterizes all the Lindsley performances, was apparent in the work of the pupils.

The first number, "Hearts," proved to be a most interesting little drama, affording scope for the delineation of varied emotion. Mary Frein as Mrs. Cavendish was good in a difficult part, while Winfield S. Muehleisen, as Jerome Rutledge, deserves great credit. His work was characterized by feeling and clever light and shade of expression. E. J. Seems as Cuthbert Durand was praiseworthy. "The New Woman, a Comedy of A. D. 1950," in three acts, a delightfully witty and fantastic conceit, caught the fancy of the audience. Joseph Solari as Bridget Mulcahy, E. J. Seems as Bertie Howell and Vincent Pittman as Fritz Bismarck, the ice man, were intensely funny, and thoroughly deserving work was done by Marjorie Smith, Matilda Holle, Emile Louise Jones, Jessie Clement and Mae Gordon. The evening concluded with the farce, in one act, "Lodgings to Let," excellently played by E. J. Seems, W. S. Muehleisen, Vincent Pittman, Marjorie Smith, Mae Gordon, Emile Louise Jones and Matilda Holle.

NEWS OF THE SUMMER GARDENS

Delmar Garden will continue its merry jingle of Weberfieldian comedy and song next week, when "Whirl-i-gig," an altogether different kind of a show from the one this week will be presented by a new company.

"Whirl-i-gig" is the same kind of a performance as "Pousse Cafe," which was the opening attraction at the garden, and still, burlesque that it is, "The Concurers," which is running this week, is doing a good business. Tuesday evening, when the Credit Men attended in a body with their wives and lady friends, the theater was completely packed. Tomorrow evening the St. Louis Typothaete will have their annual banquet at Delmar and attend the theater.

The company that will appear next week will be headed by Field and Field, brothers of Lew. Miss Octavia Barbe will be the leading woman. The company comes direct from Detroit, where it has been presenting "Whirl-i-gig" this week, so the opening night ought to see a first-class performance. The subject of the play is a strike of chambermaids and bell boys at a Paris Exposition hotel.

At Eclipse Park this week the stock company is offering "The Phenix," one of the most famous melodramas, and pleasing good crowds, despite the fact that the high water of the Mississippi is the greatest attraction in South St. Louis right now. The play is especially fitted to Mr. Beggs, the popular leading man. Next week the play will be "Brother Against Brother."

Willard and Willard are doing a slack wire act at Hashagen's this week that is a champion, introducing bikes and unicycles, which are mounted from the wire itself instead of from a platform. Others on the program are George Cole, monolog st; Marguerite French, song illustrator; Mazie Ritchie, in a difficult skipping rope dance and other steps.

On the list for next week are Brooks and Beneke, musical comedians; Walter S. Ayres, character artist; Marguerite French, Cordelia Roberts with her firefly electrical ballet, and the two Willards.

At West End Heights the stage performance, which has been selected from the best of vaudeville talent, pleases the large audiences. The big attraction of the park is the new scenic railway. The views through the tunnel are something entirely new. A grand view of the World's Fair grounds opposite, is another attraction of the road.

The juggling specialty of Drawee and the expert gymnastic exhibition of the Montrose troupe are the star features of the program at Forest Park Highlands this week. Next week Col. Hopkins will introduce Elfie Fay, one of the brightest soubrettes of the New York stage, for the first time in vaudeville. Other acts in the bill are those of Hickey and Nelson, York and Adams, a gymnastic exhibition by the Parros brothers and other good acts.

At the cottage in Forest Park Prof. Seymour plays on his concert cornet as only Seymour can, and the band performs neatly-timed and delicately-intuned accompaniments nightly. For this evening the pieces de resistance are a grand selection from Edwards' little-known comic opera, "Dolly Varden," Holtman's "Calanthe" waltz and Moustakis' transcription in G of the "Polupeloisbolo Thalasses."

South Siders are enjoying a goodly bill of vaudeville this week at Mannion's Park. The Faust Trio, an exceptionally clever act, head the bill. It is an act out of the ordinary run of vaudeville turns. Others who contribute to make the bill a pleasing one are Pongo and Leo, in an aerial act; the Wilson Trio, in an operatic-comedy sketch; Armstrong and Wright, eccentric dancers, and "Nic" Jerome, the frog imitator. Next week's bill will be a varied one including as it does Prof. Martin's dogs, cats and monkeys; Zoe Mathews, the singing comedienne; Wm. H. Windom, the sweet voiced minstrel; Brazil and Brazil, grotesque acrobats, and Spalding, comedy equilibrist.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week the Merchants' Exchange Relief Fund Committee has the garden in charge, Mannion Brothers kindly donating the use of the garden on those days, to help swell the Flood Relief Fund.

Friday is Wagner night at the Suburban and a program suitable for society night will be rendered. Bohumyr Kryl will again be heard at the Wagner concert. Diavolo, the loop-the-loop bicyclist, expects to make his trial ride Thursday or Friday. The Wagner program for Friday is as follows:

"The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" (Overture).
"Lohengrin" (Prelude).
"Die Goetterdammerung" (Siegfried's Funeral).
"Die Walkure" (Sigmund's Love Song).
Cornet Solo by Kyrl.
"Tannhauser" (Fantasia).

The program this week at Lemp's Park is headed by the Franklin Sisters, song and dance artists; Tommie Smith and Bonnie Arnada, in a farcical sketch; the Finnigans in a skit entitled "A Matrimonial Failure;" Thorne and Holdsworth, buck and wing dancers; Mlle. Lizette, operatic vocalist; Billy Collins, monologist, and Mamie Brintrup, the singing sunbeam. After the performance each evening Prof. Kaltenthaler's band will play dance music in the new pavilion until midnight.

Lawrence Hanley will be seen to good advantage next week in Hamlet. This week at Koerner's Garden he is playing the difficult part of Svengali in Trilby.

"No. What reminded you of the fact?"

"You haven't said anything about the necessity for economizing for several weeks."

The Maid: O, me an' 'er husband couldn't agree, so I thought it best to send in my resignation at once. It come to the point where one of us 'ad to go.

M'CHESNEY WINS $88,000 FOR OWNER SMATHERS

Latter Was Thought to Have Canceled Bets, but in Reality Scored Greatest Coup in History of Big Turf Wagers.

NEW YORK, June 11.—When McChesney, the noted western racehorse won the Harlem handicap at Chicago, his owner, E. E. Smathers of New York, won $80,000 in bets, the heaviest winning ever made in the West in future book betting. Thirty thousand dollars of this sum was won from one bookmaker, who laid $30,000 against $2500 that McChesney would not win.

It was "Kid" Weller of Chicago who had to pay out the heaviest losing to Mr. Smathers, who had bet $2500 with him at 12 to 1 against McChesney. The check for $32,500, which was handed to the owner and representing his stake and winnings is the largest ever drawn by a western bookmaker in payment of a single bet. Mr. Weller has had it photographed, but not necessarily to remind him of the incident.

In winning the race Mr. Smathers cleaned up, it is said, $88,000, the value of the purse being $8000.

After the race Mr. Smathers' celebration took the form of prodigal generosity to the trainer, jockey and caretakers of the horse. To Sam Hildreth, the trainer, he gave $7500, and to Charley Gray, the jockey, $3000; to the stable foreman he gave $500; to David, the man who "rubs" McChesney, $500, and to the little boy who exercises the horse, $100.

Mrs. Hildreth, wife of the trainer, had her horse Favonius in the race, and Gray engaged to ride him. She allowed Gray to ride McChesney, and $1000 was given up to her. Altogether Mr. Smathers gave away $12,600.

E. E. Smathers is a typical New Yorker—Wall street speculator, yachtsman, politician, owner of trotting horses and running horses, and with wealth running into seven figures. For years he has been the boldest speculator on the trotting turf, and has won thousands. He owns Lord Derby, the great trotting horse.

At New Orleans last winter his fancy turned to runners, and he bought McChesney for $20,000, and Dick Bernard, a 2-year-old, for $5000. The day McChesney won the handicap, Dick Bernard won a purse race. Mr. Smathers thinks McChesney is the greatest racehorse in America, and says he has thousands to bet that he can prove it.

IRISH LAD IS SURE TO START

NEW YORK, June 11.—Herman B. Duryea, partner of Harry Payne Whitney in the Westbury stable, which owns the Brooklyn handicap winner, Irish Lad, says he does not know definitely when the animal will be shipped to Chicago for the American Derby. After a consultation with Trainer Rogers, he was asked a direct question as to whether or not his horse will start in the Derby.

"Well," he replied, "that has not been definitely agreed upon, but I suppose he will. Mr. Whitney seems to think we ought to try for the Derby, and I should say it is reasonably certain Irish Lad will be shipped to Chicago. The time has not been fixed."

It is not thought that Trainer Rogers can go with the candidate for Derby honors, however, as he has a large string under his care at Gravesend.

It is unlikely that Irish Lad will start in the Suburban, owing to the big penalty he incurred by winning the Brooklyn handicap.

Want Terminal Company to Pay.

At a meeting of the Carondelet Business Men's Association, Wednesday night, a resolution was passed to instruct E. J. O'Neill, a member of the House of Delegates from that ward, to demand of the Terminal Association a through bill of lading from all railroads to and from St. Louis; payment of $150,000 due the city for the Clark avenue bridge; payment of not less than $100,000 per annum for the loop franchise, and a fixed switching rate, not in excess of the present one.

POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF FINANCIAL AND MARKET DOINGS

BULLS ON TOP IN NEW YORK

The Opening This Morning Was at Decided Advance Over Close Yesterday.

RUSH OF SHORT COVERING SUSTAINS THE PRICES

Report That Yoakum of the Frisco Is to Succeed Leeds of the Rock Island Again Current.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The bears were treated to a dose of their own medicine this morning, administered in large doses, when the opening showed an advance over yesterday's close which discounted any performance that the bears have been able to put on the floor. London came with strong advances and there were plenty of good buying orders on the floor at the opening.

The newspaper articles this morning were bullish in character, the general idea being that the bears had overdone their raid and that the short interest was getting too large to be safe. The excellent crop report published yesterday came as a surprise to the bears, as it was generally understood that it would show the crop to be in poor condition.

It is said that the rumors that were afloat yesterday that some of the commission houses were in trouble was absolutely without foundation. J. J. Hill turned to the other side of the situation on the crop report, and is credited with saying that the good report puts the country on a better footing than at any time for 20 years.

The labor situation is also improved, and during the morning the bulls had things all their own way, with shorts covering heavily and heavy buying, considerable of which is credited to Morgan, to give life to the trading.

The report that President Yoakum of the Frisco is to succeed President Leeds as the president of the combined Rock Island Frisco system is again in circulation. The continued illhealth of President Leeds lends some color to the talk. According to the gossip, Mr. Leeds is to remain a member of the executive board and assist Mr. Yoakum in directing the affairs of the roads.

All through the morning the activity continued and there was no sign of weakening in prices. After the noon hour there was a slacking in the trading, but prices did not suffer.

The banks were gainers from the subtreasury yesterday and on the operations since Friday now stand debtor to the subtreasury to the extent of $1,464,000. Money was easy at 2½ per cent. Sales to noon were 455,300 shares.

The opening prices and changes were as follows: Copper 53¾, advance 1⅝; Atchison 65½, advance 1½; Baltimore & Ohio 81, advance 1¼; Rock Island 32⅝, advance 1⅜; Erie 29⅞, advance 29⅞; Louisville & Nashville 108, advance 1; Missouri Pacific 100½, advance 1½; New York Central 126, advance 1¼; Pennsylvania 124¾; advance ⅝; Reading 43½, advance 1½; St. Paul 149¾, advance 2; Southern Pacific 48½, advance 2½; Sugar 118⅝, advance 1⅜; Union Pacific 79, advance 1⅜; Wabash preferred 41⅛, advance ⅞.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The stock market opened this morning with the bears in a panic and enormous blocks were bought on a rising scale and at a rebound in prices exceeding the opening drop of yesterday. Opening gains ran all the way from 1 to 1½, the latter for Norfolk & Western. Five hundred shares of Atchison sold at 65½ and the next sale was of 11,000 shares at 66 and 67, compared with 64 last night. Six thousand shares of Erie so'd at 29⅞ to 30¼, compared with 29 last night. The opening gain in St. Paul was 2¼ and in Union Pacific 2⅛. United States Steel preferred and Baltimore & Ohio opened wide on the sale of 3600 and 3500 shares, respectively.

Profits were taken immediately on the bulge in the active stocks and there was some pressure of left-over liquidating sales. St. Paul, Atchison, Norfolk & Western, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific relapsed a point. Meanwhile stocks were advanced vigorously. These gains ran from 1½ to 3¼ in New Jersey Central. Delaware & Hudson, Erie first and second preferred, the St. Louis Southwesterns, New York Central, Chicago Great Western, Denver & Rio Grande, National of Mexico preferred, the Wabashes, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, Wheeling & Lake Erie second preferred, Consolidated Gas, Brooklyn Transit, Metropolitan Street Railway, Tennessee Coal and North American. Pittsburg, C., C. & St. Louis jumped 5. Prices of the leaders were rising strongly again at 11 o'clock and some of them had rallied to their opening prices.

The pressure to sell stocks was light on the advance and prices continued to advance even with smaller buying. The leaders generally rose above the opening, the gain in Atchison extending to 3¾, Baltimore & Ohio and St. Paul 3, Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific 2¾ and Union Pacific, Louisville, Erie, Reading, New York Central and Amalgamated 2 to 2⅛. Gains of 2 or over were numerous among stocks of secondary importance. Northwestern rose 3¾.

Bonds were dull but strong at noon.

TRANSIT STRONGER THIS MORNING

CENTRAL COAL AND COKE MAKES ANOTHER LOSS

Trading for the Day Was but Moderate in Volume, With Bank Stocks Inclined to Be Lower.

The amount of business transacted on the St. Louis Stock Exchange this morning was only moderate. The traction group was inclined to be stronger, there being a good demand for Transit at $23, at which price 100 shares sold. The preferred brought unchanged prices, but was actively bid for. The bonds were again inactive, none selling.

Both Mechanics and Third National were weaker, the former being offered down to $270 before selling, and the latter changing hands at $300.50 and $300.25. National Bank of Commerce was also on the down turn, but did not sell.

Central Coal and Coke was under some pressure, and went in 100-share lots from $61.25 down to $61.

GRAIN MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

CHICAGO, June 11.—The opening in wheat was about steady and was of considerable disappointment to many traders who had construed the government crop report as being rather bullish, but the favorable weather offset this feature. July opened ⅛@¼c lower to ⅛@¼c higher at 75⅝@76c, and with liberal selling by commission houses, with only a scattered demand, the price steadied around 75¾@75⅞c. Receipts at Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago were 210 cars.

Corn opened firm and higher, July being up ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c at 48½@48⅝c, but on liberal selling by local traders the market quickly reacted, July declining to 48⅛c soon after the opening. Receipts were 343 cars, with eight of contract.

Trading in oats was dull, with opening prices firm in sympathy with the strength in corn, July being ⅛@¼c higher, at 36½@36⅝c. There was declining to 48¼c soon after the opening. Receipts 145.

Provisions opened firm on a fair demand from brokers supposed to be for the account of local packers. Trading was light and featureless, with barely any change. September pork opened 5c higher at $16.90, lard unchanged at $9, while ribs were up 2½c at $9.82½.

COULD NOT HOLD GRAIN DOWN

After a Firm Opening Prices Declined, but Reacted Sharply Late.

THE CLOSE WAS FIRM IN WHEAT, CORN AND OATS

Government Crop Report Favored the Bears, Weather Favorable and Cables Unfavorable, but Did Not Count.

Grain.

The speculative markets of today showed plainly that the bull and the bear forces had lined up for a fight to a finish. The bears had on their side a government report that indicated the largest wheat crop in prospect ever before harvested and an oat crop above the average, besides weather of highly satisfactory conditions for the growing grain and cables of a most unsatisfactory reading on foreign markets and domestics, yet with all this in their favor the bears were only able to work out declines of ¾c in wheat, ¼c in corn and ½c in oats. And these were all lost and more, too, by one of those wild bull rushes that was so effective during the recent advance coming in late in the day and shooting wheat up until 1¼c for July and ¾c for September, corn ⅝c and oats ⅞c above the low prices of the day. The close in all was right strong, too. There was evidence enough that the bulls had much the best of it in speculation and sentiment, and that at present counts just as well and even better than ordinary market conditions. All of which means the buying side will be much the safest and most profitable, if worked judiciously on decline. There is a large speculative shortage in wheat that makes the selling side doubly dangerous in that grain.

WHEAT—The figures presented by the statistician of the department in his June crop report pointed to a much larger prospective yield than last year, or any other year for that matter, but on yesterday's curb after the report was posted the bulls boosted July to 79c and September to 73½c on the reduction in winter wheat's condition since May 1 of over 10 points. This morning they were not so certain the report was bullish, and the buying was much quieter and lighter, and the selling freer and more pressing, causing an opening for September at 73⅛c to 73¼c, though latter ⅛c above yesterday's regular close. So much was for sale that September declined to 72⅝c, but then rallied to 72⅞c. July was offered ½c lower at 77½c, and later sold at 77⅝c.

The European markets had not been excited by the government's figures nor America's advance of yesterday, Liverpool having gained only ¼d and Paris unchanged to ¼c lower, and both quiet. In the Northwest frosts were reported but not believed to have injured spring wheat, and the weather otherwise favorable, a low promising to bring rains to the spring wheat country, and conditions all right in winter wheat territory. The Cincinnati Price Current made no unfavorable statements regarding the crop. Receipts here were 6500 bu, against 47,600 bu a year ago.

The sensational news from Servia regarding the revolution and assassination of the King, Queen and cabinet had no effect upon the market, as Liverpool closed unchanged to ¼d lower indicating the news had no effect then. Paris closed unchanged. Heaviness characterized the local market most of the forenoon, considerable long wheat coming out for sale, causing September to sell down to 72⅝c, though just before noon the bulls rallied it to 72⅞c. July sold at 77½c and later 77⅝@77¾c bid.

Primary receipts were 255,000 bu, against 224,000 bu one year ago, and shipments Clearances in flour and wheat were 610,000 bu.

A well worked-up boom was sprung later in the day. Ed Flesh, just back from a trip to the Pacific coast, entering the pit and buying so freely that bull enthusiasm at once broke out and a rapid rally carried July to 78¾c and September to 73⅛c. They eased back to 78c and 72⅞c, but at close had buyers at 78⅛c and 72⅞c. December was offered at 73¾c and that bid later. Reports of small threshing returns from Indiana had a strong effect, as did reported sales of No. 1 northern in store at Chicago, at 3c over old-style July. Export business was moderate—19 loads.

Cash market—Received 485 sacks and 5 cars local and 1 car through. Not much offered and little wanted. Very few mills running and they only purchasing enough to run on from day to day. No 3 red sold at 76c in cars and 75c sacked on track.

CORN—There was no government report for the trade to figure on, but the Price Current estimated a decrease of 5 per cent in acreage and a weekly crop, on which there was strong enough buying to open July ⅜@½c at 48c. The market soon weakened, and, after selling at 47¾c, July was offered at 47⅝c, as September was at 46⅝c.

The weather was favorable in about all sections, and no evidence of a change except in the Northwest, where not much corn raised. Liverpool was quiet and unchanged. Receipts here were 1350 bu, against 44,550 bu a year ago

A heavy market followed up to noon, as more pressure to sell most of the time than to buy. The buying was moderate and July sold from 47½@47¾c, rallying to 47¾c bid when wheat reacted. September sold at 46½ and was offered at 46⅝, though 46¾ bid later.

Liverpool closed ¼@⅜d higher for the day. Primary receipts were 442,000 bu, against 311,000 bu a year ago, and shipments 505,000 bu, against 357,000 bu last year. Clearances were 55,500 bu.

The latest fly-away in wheat enabled the corn bulls to get some good work in for their side and they hustled July up to 48c and September to 47⅛c, closing the market with buyers of the former and sellers of the latter at these top rates for the day. New York reported 5 loads for export.

Cash market—Received, 12 cars local and 24 cars through. Unsettled and irregular, the light demands of local buyers taking the few cars offered that could be moved on the West Side, paying 52c for No. 2, 50¼c for No. 3, 42c for heated and 50½c to 52½c for poor to choice No. 3 white.

OATS—The government estimate indicated a crop of 156,000,000 bu smaller than last year's, but the feeling was weak and September was offered ⅛c lower at 33c. The Price Current spoke of an improving tendency to the crop, and the weather was satisfactory. Receipts were 1350 bu, against 44,550 bu last year.

September was offered down to 32⅝c, without a buyer, but later a demand came in that paid 33⅛c to 33c.

Primary receipts were 321,000 bu, against 258,000 bu one year ago, and shipments 201,000 bu, against 247,000 bu last year. Clearances were 2000 bu.

When wheat started on its late rush up in price it carried oats, as well as corn, with it, and 33½c was bid for September, the close at 33⅜ asked. July was nominal at 36½c.

Cash market received 1 car local. The little here that could be moved was held at prices that absolutely stunned the local feeders who required supplies, and they refused to buy. No. 4 white was offered at 60c and 55c bid. A car No. 4 mixed, on west track, sold subject to delay at 45c.

RYE—None offered and no market; No. 2, nominally, 53c, and No. 3 50c.

Trade Topics.

The June report of the department of agriculture indicates a large crop of wheat in prospect, the largest in fact ever raised, though the June 1 condition and acreage of both spring and winter wheat will probably be lowered by the statistician before the latest reports are issued. Of winter wheat the average condition June 1 is estimated at 82.2, which a decline from May 1 of 10.4 points, though 6.1 points above June 1, 1902. Employing the acreage on May 1, the prospective yield of winter wheat is indicated as about 490,000,000 bu. A reduction from the May 1 estimate of 63,000,000 bu. The yield of winter wheat in 1902 was 412,000,000 bu, and in 1901 was 430,000,000. The lowest conditions on June 1 of this year were 70 in Missouri, 75 in Illinois and 76 in Tennessee, the states St. Louis principally depend upon for supplies, and 76 in California. Of spring wheat the condition on June 1 was 95.9, compared with 92 on same date in 1902 and a ten-year average of 92.9. The area under cultivation was 17,257,000 acres, a decrease from last year's harvested area of 364,000 acres. These figures point to a yield of 298,000,000 bu. Last year's actual yield was 258,000,000 bu. The three great Northwestern spring wheat producing states between them averaged 99 per cent in acreage, compared with last year and their condition averaged 98. The total wheat crop is indicated as 788,000,000 bu, against 670,000,000 bu in 1902. The average condition of oats June 1 was 85.5, compared with 90.6 on same date last year and 90.2 the ten-year average. The acreage in oats was 3.2 per cent smaller than last year and now estimated at 27,736,000 acres. The crop indicated is 832,000,000 bu, while 988,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Chicago statisticians, as usual, figure out smaller prospective crops on the government's estimate for June 1 than any one else. The winter wheat crop they estimate at 459,000,000 bu and spring wheat at 281,000,000 bu, a total yield of 740,000,000 bu. They estimated the total wheat crop of 1902 at 594,000,000 bu and it turned out to be 670,000,000, and the crop of 1901 they estimated at 625,000,000 bu, when it was 748,000,000 bu. The writer's estimate on these crops were 637,000,000 bu for 1902 and 688,000,000 bu for 1901, these respectively 43,000,000 bu and 63,000,000 bu greater than the Chicago estimates, but 33,000,000 and 60,000,000 bu smaller than the actual figures of the government. The government, however, raised its figures on the acreage in its final report on both years above that first reported. Eastern statisticians figure the wheat crop on about the same basis as the Post-Dispatch commercial editor.

The Cincinnati Price Current says winter wheat is showing a wider divergence in condition, but deterioration apparently about checked; still slightly above average. Corn acreage probably 5 per cent less than last year. Early planted generally good stand, but very weedy. Oats show improving tendency, but still below average. Hay improved some. Hog packing for week, 460,000 head, against 495,000 a year ago.

To Rooke—A grain man just returned from a three days' trip at his stations along the St. Paul road in Iowa says: "Outlook very poor; very little corn planted and ground too wet to work. Some oats turning yellow."

Broomhall cabled on Liverpool wheat: The government report issued caused a steady opening with prices ⅛d higher. During the morning old July further advanced ⅛d on the scarcity of arrivals of contract wheat and the political trouble in Servia. The other options were unchanged at 1:30 p. m. Corn opening quiet and unchanged, but later prices eased off ⅛d to ¼d with cheaper La Plata offerings the principal factor. Toward noon the distant months received the early decline of ¼d in sympathy with firmness in wheat.

Jackson of Chicago wires the Post-Dispatch commercial: Winnipeg wires: "There is no change. Crop situation very favorable all over the country. No complaints from any section. Conditions perfect up to date. Weather fine." Same applies to is some mysterious doings in corn. I think it is high enough, but money may put it all of the Northwest. He also says: "There up."

ROTHSCHILD ON THE STOCK MARKET

No Feeling of Distrust of American Securities Obtains in Europe.

HE IS IN THE MARKET FOR RAILWAY STOCKS

Explains the Recent Shrinkage by the Statement That Morgan and Others Were Overloaded and Had to Sell.

LONDON, June 11.—Lord Rothschild was interviewed by an Associated Press representative today on the financial situation in America. He said: "It is no good looking further than your nose in these matters. The depreciation in stock values is not caused by European selling, for the very good reason that Europe has scarcely any American securities to sell. Yesterday's sales in London were almost entirely on New York orders. Amsterdam sold slightly, but not nearly as much as was attributed to that city by the dispatches. When an American wants to sell he has got into the habit of sending his order here and leaving it to the arbitrage houses. There is absolutely no feeling of distrust in Europe over the financial conditions in America. Only a fool would say that the financiers here are making what you call a dead set against American securities. What do I think of the future? Well, the best answer I can give is this," and Lord Rothschild handed over a stock ticket showing that he had just purchased 500 shares of an American railway. "That, of course, is only a drop in the bucket, but I may tell you that one of the wealthiest capitalists I know yesterday invested £200,000 in American securities and he has put another £200,000 into them again this morning. That sounds large, but it is nothing to the selling orders that come to New York. In such a period as this the transactions of even the larger investors have a small effect on the market in which the speculator figures so largely."

Lord Rothschild's explanation of the recent serious shrinkage in values is this: "Speyers went into street railways, Yerkes came over here to electrophy the undergrounds, Morgan bought British securities and I am told Schwab went in largely for British industrials. They all thought that British or European investors would take a larger share in these European enterprises than they did. The result is that some of the largest capitalists in America have been obliged to realize on their securities on the other side in order to provide capital for their undertakings here. Under such circumstances quotations were bound to go down.

RUMORS OF JURY BRIBING.

Murder Trial of Three Years Ago to Be Investigated at Poplar Bluff.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., June 11.—About three years ago Alex. Sanders was tried and acquitted in this county on a charge of murder in the first degree. The verdict of the jury was not satisfactory to the public. This morning Judge Fort instructed the grand jury to investigate rumors of bribery in the Sanders case. It is claimed by the authorities that they are in possession of evidence showing that money was used illegally in the trial. Judge Fort's charge to the grand jury has created much comment. Sanders is living in Oklahoma.

TURNING GUNS ON CHAMBERLAIN

His Preferential Tariff Plan Ridiculed in the British Commons.

DEBATE ON PROPOSAL TO ABOLISH CORN TAX

Sir Charles Dilke Shows How Great Britain Has Maintained Her Supremacy on a Free Trade Policy.

LONDON, June 10.—The debate on the proposition to modify England's policy of free trade on lines suggested by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, which he calls a "preferential tariff" scheme, was resumed in the Commons today. The topic under discussion was the proposal of the chancellor of the exchequer to abolish the corn tax.

Sir Charles Dilke, advanced Radical, contended that the House had the right to demand an opportunity for pronouncing judgment on this important fiscal question. There was enormous exaggeration in the statement that it was foolish for this country to maintain a policy differing from that of the rest of the world. While the United States and Germany were reaping much prosperity under protection, Great Britain's foreign exports at the present moment were equal to the combined exports of the United States, Germany and France, which considering the enormous expansion of the population of the United States, was a truly surprising thing. The speaker denied that protectionist countries were cutting out Great Britain from the markets of the world. Germany had not even hurt Great Britain's market in South America, and when one considered the great natural advances of the United States, her size and her highly cultivated population, it was marvelous that she had not years ago attained the first place in trade. The commerce of the United States had progressed independently of protection; but it had been retarded rather than advanced by the adoption of protection.

N. H. H. Asquith, advanced Liberal, declared that the reason for the abandonment of the grain tax remained an "unsolved and inscrutable mystery." Mr. Chamberlain had told the public that the tax did not fall on the consumer. If that was so, its repeal was a "magnificent display of international attachment," as it practically meant that Great Britain was making a present to the United States of the duty which the tax brought in. All the opposition's arguments against the tax were employed by Mr. Ritchie yesterday evening to justify the repeal. Never had a small minority been so rapidly and completely justified.

Describing the situation as "politically indecent," Mr. Asquith urged an explicit declaration of the collective judgment of the cabinet in regard to the larger questions of fiscal policy, and, turning to Mr. Chamberlain, who at that moment entered the House and sat down beside Premier Balfour, Mr. Asquith asked the colonial secretary what was his position in view of yesterday's speech of the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Ritchie. Was Mr. Chamberlain a brand plucked from the burning? A backslider brought home again by the gentle, persuasive influence of the chancellor of the exchequer? Was the word requiescat or the word resurgam to be carved on the tombstone of the grain tax? He was glad to see that Mr. Chamberlain was still sitting on the cabinet bench, although it was quite unprecedented to see two ministers on the same benches holding fundamentally and irreconcilably divergent views on a matter which affected more vitally than any other the unity of the empire and its fiscal and commercial prosperity. It was unexampled and an entire departure from the traditions and rules of public life, that upon matters of this kind, two responsible ministers should emit not only discordant opinions on public platforms, but pose as the respective propagandists of two wholly irreconcilable policies.

CITY NEWS.

There are some people brave and courageous under all circumstances, and who will not be deterred from doing a good deed if even the "heavens should fall," notably so the pretty young lady who got married yesterday afternoon in East St. Louis, and from the Mayor of which the CRAWFORD STORE required a permit to deliver the young lady her trousseau!!

OVERRULED SUPREME COURT

Chicago Judge Decided That America's Highest Tribunal Was Wrong in Its Conclusions.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Judge Philip Stein of the supreme court has given a ruling that is directly at variance with a decision of the supreme court of the United States on similar questions.

The ruling arises in an insurance suit brought by Mrs. Sarah Ihrig to prevent an insurance company, which has its home office in New York city, from forfeiting a policy for $2000, taken out in the name of her husband, without giving notice.

The supreme court had decided in the Cohen case that New York insurance companies can forfeit policies written outside the state without giving notice, while the New York statute provides that notice must be given of the voiding of policies.

The Ihrig policy was written in Colorado. After considering all the facts, Judge Stein ruled that the company must abide by the New York law, notwithstanding the decision of the federal supreme court to the contrary.

MALARIA, CATARRH AND RHEUMATISM

QUICKLY EXPELLED FROM THE SYSTEM BY

"DE LACY'S CIN-KO-NA AND IRON"

MALARIA IS A FORERUNNER OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Malaria makes you feel tired and worn out all the time. You may sleep ten hours every night, yet if your system is full of Malaria you will get up in the morning feeling as though you had never been to bed. Do you feel tired, nervous, restless, fidgety, no appetite, irritable and simply run down all over? Then your system is full of Malaria. You may not be exactly sick, yet you lack vim, energy and ambition. Nothing will make you feel like letting down and giving up so quick as to have your system full of Malaria. This is the time of year it affects you most, and the result of this cursed feeling is sometimes Typhoid Fever.

Never was there a time when one should be more careful than right now on account of the conditions of the flood and water which we are compelled to drink. It fills the system full of Malaria, and is a warm invitation to Typhoid Fever. The great Malaria Cure, and one that today is, being endorsed by not only thousands of men and women from all parts of the world, but by the ablest physicians in the United States, is DE LACY'S CIN-KO-NA AND IRON."

Don't take our word for this statement, but read what others have to say. Over 1000 such letters as below received every week.

A KANSAS CITY WOMAN.

READ THIS LETTER.

Mrs. Anna Ruffner

2423 E. 9th St., Kansas City, Mo.

"Had Malaria and felt no account all the time until I began taking 'De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron' and now feel like a new woman" — so says Mrs. Anna Ruffner, of Kansas City, Mo.

For a year or more I was so full of Malaria and felt so worn-out and no account that at times I would almost feel like giving up. I would ache all over and had no appetite and did not sleep at all good at night. I began taking "De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron" four times a day and one of "De Lacy's Little Fruit Wafers" at night, and in less than three weeks the malaria and that tired and worn-out feeling entirely left me and I began to eat well and sleep like an infant, and my complexion, instead of being a muddy hue, cleared up, and I could do more work in a day than I did in three, and have life and ambition. I feel that I cannot recommend "De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron" too highly. My mother, who is 60 years old, never allows herself to be without "De Lacy's Laxative Fruit Wafers," as they cured her of stomach trouble and sick headache after suffering almost constantly for more than 15 years.

"I Gained 14 Pounds in Five Weeks." So Says

MISS LOUISE DREWING,

Of 151 St. George Street, One of the Oldest Families in St. Louis.

Read Miss Drewing's Most Interesting Statement:

"I was most terribly run down, was weak, full of malaria, awfully nervous, had no appetite and could not sleep. I ran down to 94 pounds and was sick and discouraged. I had heard so much about De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na I concluded to try it. I began taking it on Thursday, April 9th, 1903. I was weighed the same day to see if I really did gain in strength and I weighed just 94 pounds. I took De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na regularly 4 times a day, and the improvement was so great that it was almost too good to be true. I weighed again Thursday, May 14th, 1903, and weighed 108 pounds, gaining 14 pounds in 5 weeks, and I haven't felt as well in years. It is useless to say that I never lose an opportunity to tell any woman who needs a remedy of this kind what it did for me, and I am more than thankful for an opportunity to show my appreciation and recommend it.

LOUISE DREWING, 151 St. George St."

"I was terribly run down, could not sleep, had no appetite and my entire system was full of malaria. I had about given up, and decided a change of climate would be my only cure, for I had tried everything. About this time I saw an advertisement of "De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron" and decided as a last chance to give it a trial; so I got one bottle, and after four or five doses I began to feel better. I have taken about one and one-third bottles up to the present time, and am glad to say that the malaria has been entirely driven from my system. I eat well, sleep well and feel well. I haven't been in as good health in ten years, "De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron" is certainly a great medicine and a fine stimulating tonic, and I most heartily recommend it to all who may be in need of its curative properties.
